Three Are Killed In Sullivan Crash

Ford Applying Pressure for Ship's Release

The Mayaguez, unarmed American merchant vessel which was seized Monday under fire by a Cambodian naval vessel in international waters in the Gulf of Siam. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, applying both diplomatic and military pressure, today sought the help of China and ordered 1,000 Marines to prepare to enter Thailand in an effort to win release of an unarmed American merchant vessel seized by Cambodia, sources said.

Pentagon sources said 1,000 Marines on Okinawa received the order to "prepare to depart soon" for Thailand in a show of military force against the Cambodian armed forces who seized the ship Mayaguez early Monday in what Ford described as an "act of piracy."

such as the USS Pueblo which was seized by North Koreans in 1968.

Nessen said the fact that Ford instructed the State Department Monday to demand release of the ship indicated that active diplomatic efforts were underway to reach a peaceful solution of the problem.

Ford meanwhile summoned members of the National Security Council to their second meeting since the incident. Nessen said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who was on a speaking trip in Missouri, did not intend to return to Washington for the meeting.

Marines on Standby

The aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea and several destroyers also were steaming toward the area. And U.S. aircraft were continuing air surveillance of the Mayaguez, which was being held by two Cambodian vessels near a tiny island about 30 miles offshore in the Gulf of Siam.

State Department sources reported the administration was seeking the help of China to convince the Cambodian Khmer Rouge government to release the Mayaguez and its 39-man crew and avoid an international incident. China is one of the few countries which has communications with the new Communist regime.

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen declined to discuss the details of Ford's diplomatic and military strategy toward the seizure. "We cannot discuss any possible military movements," he said when asked about the Marine alert. He also said he could not answer the question whether Ford was considering a military response.

Asked if U.S. officials had sought to speak directly to the Cambodian government, Nessen replied "I cannot talk about that." The Cambodian government has made no public statement on the incident.

The U.S. embassy in Phnom Penh was closed a month ago, a few days before the American-backed government of Lon Nol fell to the Communists.

Nessen said flatly that the Mayaguez was not a "spy ship"

Sea, Air Surveillance

Nessen explained that the Mayaguez, a containerized merchant ship which was carrying cargo from Hong Kong to Thailand when it was seized, has been under constant surveillance by U.S. aircraft.

He reported that the vessel was seized near the island of Poulo Wai, a tiny rock about 60 miles offshore claimed by both the Cambodians and the Vietnamese. Two Cambodian gunboats then escorted the Mayaguez to another island, Koh Tan, about 30 miles north, where it has been held ever since, he said.

Cambodians are aboard the ship, Nessen said. But he declined to say whether the American crew had been taken off the vessel.

"The United States has received no reports of any crewmember being wounded on the merchant ship," Nessen said.

The Mayaguez apparently did not go to the Cambodian port of Kompong Son as first announced.

Ford has the constitutional power to use military troops to defend American lives. The War Powers Act also gives him 48 hours to act without the consent of Congress in the event of a provocative incident caused by another country.

Congress nonetheless acted after the end of U.S. military involvement in Vietnam to prohibit the President from using troops in Southeast Asia.

Similarities to Pueblo Seizure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The diplomatic problems faced by the United States in the capture of a U.S. ship and its crew by the Cambodian navy are similar to those seven years ago when North Korea seized the spy ship Pueblo.

But there were big differences between the two situations: The Pueblo was a U.S. Navy vessel on a military mission Jan. 23, 1968 — sending electronic impulses to test North Korean defenses. The Mayaguez, seized by the Cambodians, is a privately owned freighter, although officials of Sea Land Corp. said it carried military cargo.

In both cases the crews were captured and the first concern of the U.S. government was their safe release. The Pueblo carried 83 men, including one killed in the capture. The Mayaguez carried a crew of 40.

The Mayaguez case is somewhat similar to the seizure of private U.S. fishing boats in waters claimed by Ecuador, Peru, and other South American nations. The State Department reported that in the last 20 years, 211 fishing boats have been seized and released.

In the fishing cases, the diplomatic moves have become ritual. Officials say it takes about four days for a ship to be seized, a fine paid by the owners, the fishermen released and the owners reimbursed by the U.S. Treasury. Since 1954, the total cost has been $10 million.

When the Pueblo was seized, ships were ordered to the area. President Lyndon B. Johnson called several thousand reservists to active duty. But no military action was taken, and the reservists were used instead in Vietnam.

Hours after the Mayaguez was captured the aircraft carrier Coral Sea and a half dozen accompanying ships sailed for the Gulf of Thailand.

When the Pueblo was seized the United States was able to reach the North Koreans directly at Panmunjom, the village where leaders meet each week as part of the ceasefire agreement that ended the Korean War.

Contact with the Cambodians is likely to be more difficult. The United States has had no direct contact, either formal or informal, with the Khmer Rouge. There are no longer any foreign embassies in Phnom Penh. The Soviet Union, which has reportedly served as a third party in some U.S. diplomatic efforts, was forced out of the country and has been criticized by the new government.

China apparently is the only country in regular touch. Chinese planes are the only aircraft that have been allowed to land at Phnom Penh airport.

The United States has a legation in Peking, and Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's titular head of state, is reportedly still there. However, State Department sources said other American approaches have been rebuffed.

North Korea and the United States argued 11 months before the Pueblo crew was released.

Black Creek Bill Passes Assembly

TOWN OF LLOYD — The New York State Assembly passed legislation Monday designating an 8.6 mile section of the Black Creek in Ulster County for inclusion in the state's Wild, Scenic and Recreational River System.

The bill—which some environmentalists feel could impede, or halt, plans by the Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA) to construct up to four atomic power plants in the Town of Lloyd—now goes to the state senate. But its future there appears somewhat uncertain.

Assemblyman Emeel Betros (R-101), the sponsor of the legislation, recalled his bill last week stating that the proposal should be studied further and perhaps amended.

Several sportsmen in Ulster County, who provided the initial impetus for the legislation, suggested that Betros had succumbed to pressures applied by ASDA and Town of Lloyd officials.

Betros, however, proved them wrong Monday. "I received some additional input," he told the Freeman, "and met with various people interested in the bill. But after studying all the differences of opinion, I decided that it would be impossible to create a new bill that would be satisfactory to all the people without emasculating the original intent of the legislation."

Although Betros' legislation had no difficulty passing the Assembly Monday, the Poughkeepsie Republican said he is "not sure" what will happen when the bill reaches the Senate.

State Senator Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40) is the bill's sponsor in the Senate, and he said Monday that he would delay his bill until additional information is obtained. Schermerhorn, like Betros, has met with Town of Lloyd officials, who have expressed concern that designation of the Black Creek as a scenic river could prevent recreational, commercial and residential development in a sizeable section of the township. The Lloyd Town Board passed a resolution last week asking the Department of Environmental Conservation to conduct its own study of the creek, and then hold public hearings before presenting its formal recommendations.

Both area legislators have reportedly also held discussions with Cloin Robertson, ASDA's director of siting, concerning possible ramifications of the Black Creek bill. Although ASDA officials have consistently maintained that designation of the Black Creek would not hinder the nuclear development plans in the Town of Lloyd, the designation would impose stringent land use restrictions in the vicinity of the creek, and could rule out the use of transmission lines across any portion of the Black Creek corridor.

With the Black Creek bill's fate uncertain in the state senate, Betros also expressed concern Monday over the response Gov. Hugh Carey will have when, and if, the legislation reaches his desk. One apparent reason why he originally recalled his bill was to obtain additional input from DEC and ASDA, two state agencies whose ultimate recommendations will probably be weighed quite heavily by the Governor. "If both ASDA and DEC are opposed to the bill," said Betros, "I'm not sure what the Governor will do."

Ulster County Congressman Matthew McHugh (D-27th District), issued the following statement:

"I deplore the seizure of our ship by the Cambodians. Unless there is something we have not been told at this point, there seems to be no reason whatsoever for that seizure. I think the United States government should use every means at our disposal in the diplomatic area to obtain the immediate release of the ship and crew."

"With regard to military intervention, I would certainly not rule that out, but of course, I would hope that would not be necessary and that the State Department can obtain release of the ship and crew without force being necessary."

Senate Republican Leader

"In no other way can we underscore the fact that we will no longer tolerate acts of international piracy."

Sen. James Buckley

Hugh Scott, who called the seizure "a terribly serious thing," said any decisions should be made by the President. "I don't believe it is very wise for members of Congress to start playing foreign policy in an act of piracy."

Buckley urged "an immediate clinical strike against bridges and ports" in Cambodia. He said he opposes using international diplomatic machinery and said the Cambodians should be advised they would be subject to more force if they harm the crewmen.

Almost as strong as Buckley's was the reaction of Sen. John Sparkman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said the United States should attempt to retrieve the captured container ship Mayaguez "any way we can," including by force.

"If a person shoots at you, you've got a right to shoot back," Sparkman said.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said on the Senate floor the seizure was "an outrage which we can't let go unchallenged."

"I don't favor precipitate action," Allen said. "But it's a question of national honor. We should take whatever means are necessary to recover the ship and its crew. If force is necessary, then force must be used."

Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of a House subcommittee on military affairs, said, "Clearly, the United States cannot tolerate seizure of its vessels on the high seas. Although we cannot rule out the possible use of force, we must first attempt to resolve this by peaceful means."

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said that under the War Powers Act of 1973, limiting U.S. involvement in Indochina, "The President would have the right to act." But Javits said, "I believe a little patience is deserved, rather than cause a new incident or attack."

Those who said they wanted more information and cautioned patience included Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., the former chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Hebert said, "I remember the Pueblo, so I want to know more about that ship before I say anything."

It's Cheaper to Live in Kingston Than in Newburgh or Poughkeepsie

KINGSTON — Living in Kingston is about half as expensive — taxwise — as living in Newburgh or Poughkeepsie, according to figures recently released by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

Kingston ranks 30th among 61 cities in the state (exclusive of New York City) with a combined tax rate of $43.68 for city, school and county purposes, based on $1,000 of full valuation.

Newburgh leads the list with a tax rate of $63.61 while Poughkeepsie is number three at $59.36. Newburgh and Poughkeepsie suffer considerably in comparison with Kingston due to the fact that both cities support their own social services programs. Ulster County picks up Kingston's welfare tab, believed to be around 40 percent of the annual county total.

The "top five" according to Levitt's report are Newburgh, Peekskill ($61.43), Poughkeepsie, Amsterdam ($57.26) and Buffalo ($54.68). Dunkirk ranks last with a tax rate of $31.76.

The report also lists tax rates per $1,000 of full value (as opposed to assessed value) in the county's nine school districts. The rate in the Kingston Schools Consolidated ranges from $19.71 in Marletown ($179.23 assessed value) to $23.30 in the town of Kingston (coincidentally, the same assessed value as Marletown). The city of Kingston residents pay $22.74 on full value with an assessed value of $78.41.

Levitt's figures are based on fiscal years ending in December of last year. Since that time the city of Kingston has had its equalization rate reduced by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment from 29 to 27. Changes in equalization rate are reflected in school taxes. Kingston's reduction of 6.9 percent (from 29 to 27) in equalization rate could mean a school tax increase of about $5 per thousand, assuming the budget remains the same.

City officials say they did not protest the decrease in the equalization rate because they have never won a protest with the state. The city's equalization rate has dropped a full ten points in the past eight years.

A drop in equalization means that in the judgment of state officials the city is not assessing its properties high enough.

Elsewhere in the county, Levitt's report shows the highest school taxes are those paid by residents of the Town of Plattekill who live in the Highland Central School District. They pay $28.86 per thousand dollars of true value (an assessed value of $48.10).

Lowest in the county is the $11.85 on true value paid by residents of the Marlboro Central Schools District living in the Town of Marlborough. The assessed value was $98.71.

Man Survives Mid-Hudson Bridge Leap

POUGHKEEPSIE — A young Hyde Park Heights man, apparently distraught over personal problems according to police, survived a 145-foot plunge from the Mid-Hudson Bridge early today.

Charles Wolven, 27, was fished from the water by Poughkeepsie Police and was rushed to St. Francis Hospital, where he was later listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit.

Police said that at about 12:30 a.m. they received a report of someone calling for help in the Hudson River near the east side of the Mid-Hudson Bridge. At the scene, police commandeered a nearby boat and, searching, found Wolven about 250 feet from shore.

According to a spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority at the Mid-Hudson Bridge, at about the same time Wolven was being pulled from the water, a driver reported at the toll booths at the west end of the bridge that a car, with its engine running and lights on, was parked on the bridge. Bridge authority personnel checked out the report and found the car with Wolven's wallet lying on the seat. They called police, who said they had already taken Wolven from the water.

Three From Napanoch Die in Sullivan Tragedy

MAMAKATING
Three members of a Napanoch family were killed and five other persons were injured Monday afternoon in a three-car crash near this northern Sullivan County community. Meanwhile, six persons were injured Monday in two head-on crashes in Ulster County.

Killed in the Sullivan County crash were James Hendrie, 65, his wife, June, 58, and their daughter, Joan, 22, all of Bennett Road, Napanoch.

State police said a car driven by Richard Barlow, 17, of Hopatcong, N. J., was passing a truck not involved in the crash on a curve in a no-passing zone. Barlow lost control of his car, which ran off the right side of the road, striking guard rails, and then crossed back onto the roadway, striking the oncoming Hendrie car and a second auto driven by Raymond Faubert, 20, of Middletown.

Barlow sustained massive head injuries in the crash, police said, and was listed in critical condition today at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie. Robert Geiss, 18, of Stanhope, N. J., was listed in fair condition today at Ellenville Community Hospital. A second passenger in the Barlow car, Faubert and a passenger in his car were all treated and released at Ellenville Community Hospital following the crash.

Charges are pending against Barlow, Ferndale State Police said. The mishap occurred at about 2:40 p. m.

Meanwhile at about 3:15 p. m. three persons were injured in a head-on crash on Lucas Avenue in the Town of Rosendale.

According to Hurley State Police, a car driven by Joseph Murray, 18 of Kingston, was going south on Lucas Avenue when it crossed into the opposite lane was in collision with a car operated by Arthur Smith Jr., 44, of Ellenville, demolishing both autos.

Murray and a passenger in his car, Maryann Rougier, 17, of Kingston were both admitted to Kingston Hospital and were both listed in satisfactory condition there today. Smith was to see his own doctor, police said.

Murray was ticketed for failure to keep right. The crash was investigated by Trooper R. Marek.

Later Monday three persons were hospitalized following a head-on crash on Sawkill Road in the Town of Kingston.

Taken from the scene by Doctor's Ambulance were the drivers of both autos, Miss Sarah Waggoner, 21, of Willow and Mrs. Gertrude Hung, 55, of West Hurley, and a passenger in the Hung car, Mrs. Henrietta Winnie, 32, of Rd 2, Box 153, Kingston. Mrs. Hung and Mrs. Winnie were both listed in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital. Miss Waggoner was in the intensive care unit at the hospital today; no condition report was available.

Police said Miss Waggoner was ticketed for speed not reasonable or prudent and for operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

Davis to Seek Second Term

KINGSTON
Surrogate Justice Arthur A. Davis of Kingston will seek a second ten-year term in the November election, it was announced this week by County Republican Chairman Albert Spada.

With the June GOP convention a little more than a month away, Spada reiterated his plan to run himself for another three-year term as Ulster County clerk. Also up for reelection is Coroner William S. Keyser.

All are expected to receive their party's nomination at the convention to be held Friday, June 20 at the George Washington School. Nominees for two-year terms as Ulster County legislators will also be selected.

The GOP city convention is tentatively set for June 16 at a time and place to be announced.

Davis, 60, is a Kingston native who attended Kingston High School and graduated from the University of Virginia where he obtained his bachelors of science and bachelor of laws degrees.

He enlisted as a private in the U. S. Army Air Force in January 1942. After attaining the rank of corporal he attended Officer Candidate's Training School at Harvard University where he received a commission as a second lieutenant. He attained the rank of captain while in Europe.

Justice Davis returned to civilian life in 1945 and joined an Albany law firm and in 1947 he engaged in the general practice of law in Kingston.

He became county attorney in 1954, served as the first chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority, was a member of the Kingston City Charter Commission and was elected surrogate in 1965 after winning a primary race with Maurice Goldberg.

Mason Bill Wants Details

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A bill that would require local school districts to detail budget items such as salaries, expense accounts and retirement benefits has been proposed by two central New York Republicans.

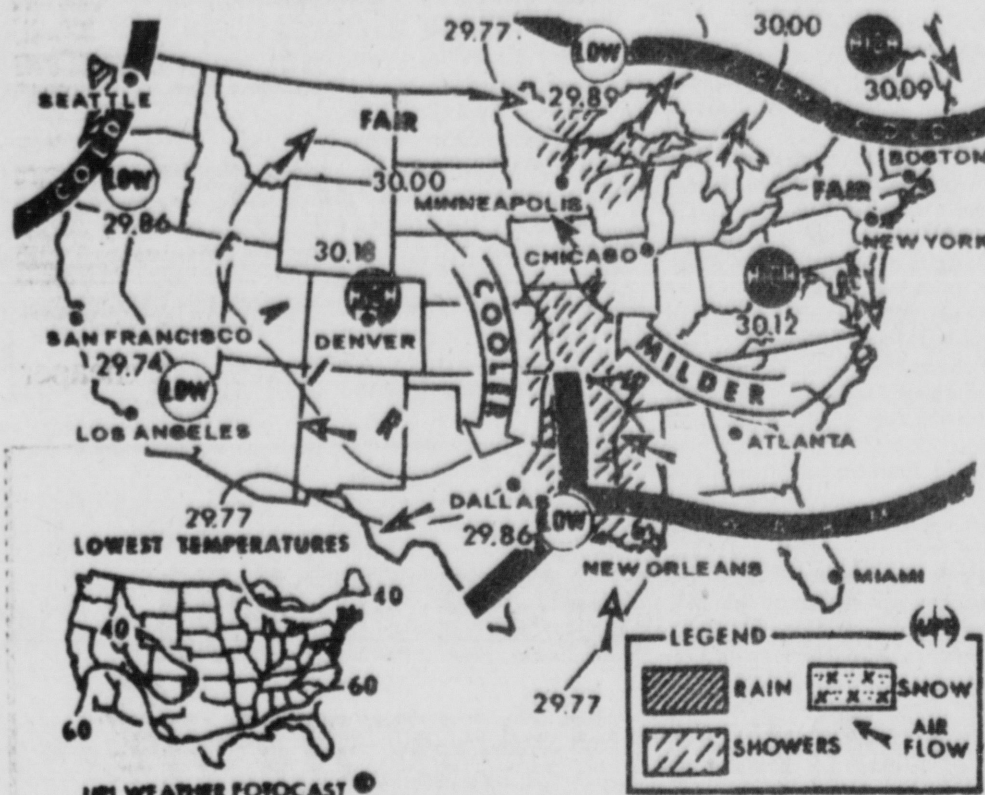

In numerous districts, Sen. Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart and Assemblyman Charles D. Cook of Delhi said Monday, there is a "screen of secrecy now surrounding public school budgets," with many items lumped under a general heading of "instructional services."

"When you consider that roughly 80 percent of the average school budget goes toward employee salaries and fringe benefits, it's understandable why any attempts to hide such detailed information is a continual source of much public dissatisfaction and distrust," they said.

Mason and Cook also released figures from the National Center for Educational Statistics which show that New York ranks first in the amount of money ($2,005) spent per student as compared to the national average of $1,210.

New York ranks second behind California in the average salary paid teachers ($14,000) and has a pupil teacher ratio of 18.3. The national average salary for teachers is $11,585 with a pupil average of 20.8.

Stabbing Victim Comforted

Steven Laine, 46, the Agriculture Department's director of public affairs, is comforted by his wife, Iris, in a Washington, D. C. hospital where doctors have concluded that he will lose an eye after being stabbed in it as he crossed the Washington Monument grounds in the midst of a "Human Kindness Day" rock concert. ## Mills Blames Pills and Booze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pills and booze were responsible for the embarrassments he suffered at the Tidal Basin and a Boston strip joint, says Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark.

He also said Monday in a public broadcast system interview he is "leaning in the direction of not running" for another term.

Mills recently returned to Washington after treatment for alcoholism at a Florida clinic.

He said he began drinking heavily two years ago, then began taking muscle-relaxing pills for a back problem. The combination of alcohol and drugs caused him to black out frequently, he said, and he thought he had a brain tumor.

"I found out later that when my back was kicking up and I was taking a pill that was supposed to relax the muscles of the back, that I shouldn't have taken a drink when I took that pill ... even two drinks would put me to sleep," Mills said.

Mills was an occupant of a car stopped by police next to the Tidal Basin near the Washington Monument last October. Police said he was drunk and had facial cuts. Another occupant, stripper Fanne Fox, leaped from the car and jumped into the water. She was pulled out by police.

A few weeks later Mills joined her on the stage of a Boston burlesque theater and announced he was going to make her a movie star.

"Much of that occurred during periods when I was not myself, when I was really blacked out, and I have no recollection of what took place later in Boston," Mills said.

He conceded there still are times he would like a drink, but believes total abstinence is his only salvation.

"One drink is too many, and a thousand drinks would not be enough if I took this one," Mills said.

Carey, Beame Seeking Money

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame, and Gov. Hugh L. Carey, after poring over the details of New York city's fiscal woes, face an uphill battle today as they try to persuade President Ford to help.

While Carey and legislative leaders were reviewing Beame's requests for state aid Monday, presidential spokesman Ron Nessen threw a cloud over today's session at the White House.

Nessen said Treasury Secretary William E. Simon spoke for Ford over the weekend when Simon rejected Beame's request for $1.5 billion in low interest loans to ease the city through a cash flow problem over the next month.

In addition to the cash flow problem, Beame told the state leaders Monday he faces a $641 million budget gap in the next fiscal year.

He proposed $434 million in new taxes including increases in city business taxes, the city's "commuter tax" and stock and bond transfer levies, as well as $221 million in new state funds.

Before Nessen's statement, Carey and Beame had said they hoped to persuade the President to reverse Simon's decision. They reacted sharply to Nessen's statement, saying, "We find it difficult to believe that the President would arrange a meeting that would serve no purpose."

Sources later told UPI that Ford had not closed his mind on the issue and might be receptive if Carey and Beame could show evidence of sharp cutbacks in the city's spending.

"The President has never heard the case from the top elected officials of the state and the city," Beame said. "We're going there to tell him. I'm sure some of the things I'm going to tell him he hasn't heard before, like how far we've gone, what the city's been doing" to cut costs.

The mayor would say only, "we'll cross that bridge when we come to it," when asked about the next step if the meeting produces no federal aid.

Among the proposals Beame outlined for state aid was a doubling, to nine-tenths of one percent of the gross wages, of the tax on non-residents who work in the city.

He also proposed a tax of 25 cents per stock option traded on the American Stock Exchange, a tax on bonds traded in the secondary market of one-third of one percent of their value, and increases or alterations in charges for stock transfers.

Other proposed tax increases included a 50 percent hike in city taxes on many businesses, and a similar increase in financial taxes on banks.

The mayor asked for an increase in the localities share of state income tax receipts to 21 percent from 18 percent, which he said would net the city $74 million and other communities in the state another $48.5 million.

He also called for $56 million in public safety revenue sharing, with another $44 million going to other localities, and $56 million of the $112 million he said his budget cuts will save the state by the end of the next fiscal year.

The Democratic mayor said Republican leaders, who control the Senate, "indicated they would like to take this package up with their people. Nothing was rejected out of hand."

Supreme Court Ruling

Companies Do Not Have to Pay Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has set back environmental and other public interest causes by drastically curbing legal fees collectible from powerful opponents such as oil companies who are successfully sued.

The issue stemmed from a complaint by the Wilderness Society, the Environmental Defense Fund and Friends of the Earth that the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. was planning to transport Alaska Oil without regard to federal environmental law. Eventually Congress settled the issue by legislation.

Then the groups sought to collect their lawyers' fees from the company. Numerous lower courts have awarded attorneys' fees in such circumstances on the ground that a particular citizens group was acting as a "private attorney general" in forcing official policy for the public good.

But an opinion by Justice Byron R. White on Monday said this practice is wrong unless such awards are specifically provided for in a statute. He said Congress can change the law whenever it wishes.

Lawyers devoted to bringing citizens' lawsuits described the ruling as a disaster. They said their only recourse now is to Congress.

"The court has really gone out of its way to do in the private attorney general doctrine," said Washington attorney Samuel R. Berger of the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights under Law.

Attorney Charles Halpern, executive director of the Council for Public Interest Law, said the doctrine has been an incentive for more lawyers to take on citizens' suits designed to confer public benefits.

The decision, he said, has "reversed the past several years of very promising development within the federal court system."

James M. Nabrit III of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund said laws used by his organization to fight race discrimination in employment, schools, public accommodations and housing provide for awards of legal fees. But he said a decision supporting private attorneys general could have given LDF more leeway in areas like voting rights or prisoner rights.

Environmental laws on clean air and water also provide for awarding legal fees. And the Freedom of Information Act was recently amended to include such a provision. The result is a legal hodgepodge.

Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and John V. Tunney, D-Calif., have both shown an interest in encouraging private enforcement of federal policies. But Halpern foresees considerable opposition to further legislation on the subject.

In other action Monday the court:

—Agreed to decide whether federal courts can remedy past discrimination in public housing by requiring construction of projects in the suburbs.

—Let stand decisions by two federal courts that Boston authorities have unconstitutionally promoted segregation in the city's schools.

—Rebuffed 6-2 an attempt by civil rights advocates in a Mississippi case to steer more state criminal trials into federal court.

—Agreed to keep the Atlantic offshore oil dispute on its docket so that the justices can settle specific boundary questions.

—Rejected a challenge to local laws barring picketing in residential areas, including the homes of elected officials.

Boycott Growing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Doctors in county after county are joining a boycott that has nearly halted elective surgery in Northern California hospitals.

The medical care crisis spread after more anesthesiologists and physicians received notices of malpractice insurance rates hikes of up to 600 per cent.

Drastic layoffs from the slowdown already have occurred in private hospitals in San Francisco, where anesthesiologists spearheaded the boycott action 13 days ago.

Hospital workers whose jobs are affected said they would gather in the state capitol today to demand legislative action on the malpractice insurance crisis. Hundreds of physicians gathered last week in a similar action.

Anesthesiologists in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties Monday refused to provide their services in some hospitals except in cases of "life or death" surgery.

Doctors in Sacramento said they would join the slowdown next Monday.

Some of the 50 affected hospitals in the San Francisco area were down to one-third their normal patient population. Losses to the hospitals were running from $10,000 a day to $25,000 a day, a spokesman for the Northern California Hospital Association said.

Nearly half the area's hospital employees have been laid off and most of the others are on a two or three-day work week. Administrative personnel have had their pay cut up to 30 per cent. Some of the hospitals said another week without income-producing surgery could bankrupt them.

The burgeoning anesthesiologists' walkout is aimed at pressuring Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. to call a special legislative session to deal with the malpractice issue. The doctors favor new laws to restrict legal fees and provide for arbitration instead of litigation to settle malpractice claims.

The physicians in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Sacramento counties are not immediately affected by higher rates, but soon will be. They joined the protest in an effort to increase the pressure.

Meanwhile, Los Angeles county officials dismissed 21 interns and resident doctors who went on strike against the Martin Luther King Hospital over pay and working conditions. The interns and residents began their strike last Wednesday. They were sent dismissal notices after nurses and other hospital workers failed to join them.

Double up, America.

Two can ride cheaper than one.

Which one of these men has high blood pressure?

Only a doctor knows.

And the simple fact is, one out of every six American adults has high blood pressure.

It can strike anyone. The young, old, black, white. The "physically fit" or not so fit.

There may be no symptoms either. Yet, high blood pressure can cause stroke, heart attack, kidney disease. A shortened life.

The man on the left is the one with high blood pressure. He'd be the last one to suspect. How about you? It takes your doctor only 30 seconds to find out. Your life is too important to trust to a guessing game.

Panel Concludes CIA Investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Except for "one or two rather major exceptions" the CIA's domestic activities were related to legitimate work of the spy agency, according to the vice chairman of the Rockefeller Commission.

Summing up 18 weeks of testimony by nearly 50 witnesses, former Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon said he personally took exception to original reports the agency was engaged in massive illegal domestic spying against Americans.

The panel, headed by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, finished hearing witnesses Monday in its investigation of the CIA, and settled down to write the report it will give to President Ford June 6.

Dillon said the group found no major surprises beyond the original news reports last December concerning CIA domestic activity. He predicted the panel would shed no new light on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, although it investigated reports the killing was linked to the CIA.

Dillon said the public would have to wait for the report for the specifics of the CIA's domestic activities and for its findings related to reports that the spy organization was involved in plots to assassinate foreign leaders. He would only say the assassination investigation centered on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, and he would not reveal the panel's conclusions.

Volkswagen . . . 'Driven Into the Red'

WOLFSBURG, West Germany (UPI) — Volkswagen, the largest auto maker in Europe and a symbol of West German economic might, has gone into the red for the first time in its history.

Volkswagen President Toni Schmuecker told a news conference today the company lost $343 million last year and would not pay a dividend for the 1974 fiscal year.

Schmuecker, a former Ford executive who became head of VW last January in an attempt to bring the ailing auto giant back on its feet, said sales fell 12 percent last year and production dropped 11.4 percent.

The 53-year-old auto executive attributed Volkswagen's troubles to decreased demand and increased fuel costs caused by the worldwide recession and energy crisis.

Volkswagen, which had increased its work force rapidly during the auto boom of the early 1970s, has announced plans to lay off one-fifth of its employees in a move to cut losses.

Spacemen Practice Linking Manuevers

HOUSTON (UPI) — American and Soviet spacemen start today practicing the launches and first maneuvers that will link the two nations' spacecraft in orbit this summer.

The simulation includes the mission control centers and tracking stations operating as if it's the real July 15 launches.

The three astronauts and two cosmonauts will work in their computer operated spaceship simulators, talking with ground controllers and each other as they will on the first international flight.

The Soviet simulated launch was set for 8:20 a.m. EDT — the same time and day of the week as the real launch 45 days from today.

Aleksey A. Leonov and Valeriy N. Kubasov go through the button pushing launch sequence as the American control center watches a videotape of an earlier Soyuz launch.

Seven-and-a-half hours later Thomas P. Stafford, Donald K. "Deke" Slayton and Vance D. Brand simulate the Apollo launch.

Nine U.S. officials are in Russia working in the Soviet control center as they will in July, and Soviet engineers are here. All personnel for the Apollo-Soyuz flight are taking part in the simulation which will last seven days.

The initial segment of the simulation covers the first 26 hours of the mission. It will pick up again Thursday morning with the docking in space and run through Saturday noon with the separation. It resumes Monday with a replay of the docking sequence.

In July, the Apollo will chase the Soyuz for two days, rendezvous in orbit and link for two days of joint activities. The first thing after docking, Leonov will join the astronauts for dinner in the Apollo.

Meeting Moved

ROSENDALE

A meeting called for Monday, May 19, by newly elected Mayor Raivo Pusemp to discuss formation of a community improvement committee has been moved to the Rosendale Firehouse on Main Street.

The meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m., originally was scheduled for the village fire hall.

Pusemp said he hoped for a good turnout and urged all interested village residents to attend and make their views known.

Schmuecker said sales in the vital U.S. market, which absorbs one-third of the company's products, declined 25.8 percent in 1974.

The slump in U.S. sales carried into the new year, with the first quarter figure for 1975 dropping 1.6 per cent from the level the year before.

The company's 1974 business report attributed the U.S. sales slump to the dollar's drop in value, which boosted the prices of West German products in America.

Schmuecker described the United States as the company's "problem market" and said Volkswagen could not "go it alone" in America.

He said VW would have to cooperate with another firm, not necessarily American, if it becomes necessary to manufacture cars in the United States.

"VW cannot do without American markets and we never will abandon the American market," he said.

West German labor unions have criticized Volkswagen for considering production of cars in the United States because of the company's massive worker layoffs at home.

The firm recently announced plans to fire 25,000 workers — one-fifth of its labor force — by the end of 1976 in an economy move.

"Unfortunately I must say that no basic improvement in the situation can be expected during the current year," Schmuecker said.

Rondout School Board To Resubmit Budget

By Carl Graham

KYSERIKE

The Rondout Valley Board of Education voted Monday night to resubmit the same $6.7 million 1975-76 school budget turned down by district voters on May 7.

The vote was 6-1, with Julian Bartle, Mrs. Clara Booth, Charles Ludlow, Richard Villamil, Mrs. Katherine Wagenfohr and Wayne Kelder, the board president, in favor and Mrs. Ann Coler opposed.

The vote will be held in the high school from 3 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, May 29, and will include two bus purchase proposals also rejected May 7. One is to spend up to $18,500 each for two 66-passenger buses, the other is to provide $1,500 for an anticipated increase in the price of a bus contracted for last year but never delivered.

The board acted after hearing Ernest Quick submit a lengthy list of recommendations for budget cuts. Quick called on the board to:

- Reduce after-school busing and library expenses.
- Cut the number of cafeteria workers, guidance counselors, principals, teacher substitutes and aides.

- Discontinue field trips.
- Dismiss "excess and undesirable" teachers and secretaries.
- Raise cafeteria prices to employees.
- Ban all new programs "for the interim."

Villamil said the board had considered every item on the list and "even if we eliminate them it won't make a sizeable difference." Kelder said the board felt the budget was "what we could do without affecting the quality of education."

Superintendent Robert Robertaccio said he had received numerous telephone calls supporting Quick's position but also had received calls from persons who would petition the board to restore certain programs if the district goes to an austerity budget.

"I don't want an austerity budget," Quick replied. "I want budget cuts."

Mrs. Coler called for elimination of nine teaching positions by attrition at the end of the school year, with the board accepting recommendations from the new superintendent about restoring or eliminating them. Robertaccio, who retires June 30, objected, saying the positions had been filled on his recommendation and that it was improper for him to sit by until June 30, with his replacement immediately faced with the decision.

"There have been no additions to the staff," he said. "These are replacements."

Mrs. Wagenfohr also objected, calling the proposed cuts "unnecessary and crippling surgery."

Villamil said the real increase in the proposed budget was actually only about $221,000, since the remainder of the $500,000 was going for mandated teacher salary increases.

"I cut down on my personal affairs," Ludlow said. "I don't see why the district can't cut out a golf program. Maybe we are over-programming these kids."

District clerk John Basten asked that the two bus propositions be put into the budget instead of being voted separately, saying he had difficulty getting contractors to bid on bus routes for the past two years and that use of district-owned vehicles was saving money. Kelder said it might cut into the favorable vote on the budget.

Villamil suggested that voters be furnished with a list of programs that might be cut if the budget is defeated again, but the board voted it down 4-3 when Mrs. Coler made it a formal motion.

Little Opposition in Phoenicia

PHOENICIA

No major objections to the proposed Ontario Central School District 1975-76 budget surfaced at the Phoenicia area public meeting Monday night, as school board candidates used the occasion to politicize.

Residents of the West Hurley area can listen to the board's budget presentation tonight. The district is conducting five public meetings, with voting on the about $7.6 million budget scheduled for May 28. Final registration date is May 21.

Candidates were introduced to about 40 members of the audience. They are: Barbara Black, running against Don Lawson; Dominic Castaldo against Sam Mercer; and Garet Church against Edna Hoyt.

Dr. Frank Marlow, district superintendent, explained at the outset that "we are in the same ticklish predicament regarding state aid" that the district has faced every year, that of not knowing what the aid formula for the coming year will be.

And, of the almost $1 million budget increase proposed, he said the "school district is no different than your own house in being affected by double digit inflation." He added that this was considered a "hold the line" budget, with no major new programs anticipated.

One subject that consumed some time was the explanation of the district's method of getting rid of the fund balance, that unexpended money that has been accumulating by one means or another for the past four years from less than $100,000 to more than $400,000 presently.

The move to reduce this amount, urged by auditors, is being accomplished by allocating $110,000 for proposition one on the ballot, renovation of the high school-junior high, and by using a more realistic figure to cover expenses during the summer before real estate taxes are due. The district anticipates no balance at the end of this fiscal year.

A few points that came out during discussion, point by point, of the budget by School Board President Doanid Lawson included the fact that the board is hiring a negotiator for non-teaching staff negotiations for the first time this year because the staff has hired one and "we must protect the school district," according to Lawson. There have been some difficulties this past month because the district apparently did not live up to its last contract with the non-teaching staff, and was forced to pay them some $7,000 back pay that was owed.

It was noted that central administration salaries, including the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and two secretaries, were proposed to increase about $8,000 with Marlow to receive $41,144, about half the total expenditure.

In the instruction category of the budget, which includes the largest single item of teachers' salaries, it was stated that a total 13.5 percent increase there is planned, to include both a flat rate increase and step increments.

It was brought out that the average salary in the district for a teacher is $13,400, with the range from $10,000 to $20,000. Administrators, including building principals, will no longer have their salaries tied to the basis of the teachers' scale after this year, as has been the case in the past.

Estimated total of taxes to be levied is $5,149,057, with a tax rate on the true valuation per thousand dollars set at $17.80.

A presentation on proposition one, to physically separate the junior from the senior high school in the present building with $100,000 from the existing fund balance, was made with the architect present to answer questions.

Mass Transit

A start toward establishing some sort of mass transit system for Ulster County was made last week with the announcement by Legislative Chairman Peter Savago that seven qualified citizens have been appointed to the legislature's Special Transportation Committee.

Ulster lags far behind its neighbors such as Sullivan, Orange and Dutchess County in meeting the transportation needs of its residents. Records show that while the city of Kingston's population is diminishing, countywide figures are increasing. This is evidence that more and more people are moving to the semi-rural and rural areas, and these peoples' needs should be served. Up until the present, the automobile has been the main source of transportation, but due to the high price of gasoline and the potential scarcity of it, our county officials have made the right move for the future.

Airing Congress

Both House and Senate are reported to be working on plans to allow broadcast coverage of their sessions. This news prompts a cautionary thought in behalf of the public interest.

That interest would be well served by television and radio access to debate on important issues of the day. Whatever arrangements for coverage are made should, however, favor untrammelled press freedom to a greater extent than they favor congressional restrictions on the news.

Congress is not above imposing such restrictions on what is revealed about its operations. Advantageous revision of what appears in the Congressional Record is common. In that daily account of congressional business, senators and congressmen routinely "clean up" or extend or delete from their remarks.

No such practices should be allowed with regard to broadcast coverage of Senate and House sessions. If it approves such coverage in principle, Congress will want to impose some restrictions. But as one broadcast newsmen observed, "the ground rules should protect the public . . . not the Senate or the House."

"I don't intend to trade this year for the same reason a lot of other people aren't — new car prices are too high!"

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department has bought $1.1 million worth of tomatoes, strawberries and cantaloupes from a firm whose top salesman is Mafia godfather Carlos Marcello.

The produce was approved by still another federal agency, the Agriculture Department, which dutifully inspected the Mafia man's tomatoes and pronounced them suitable for government soups and salads.

Then the Cosa Nostra comestibles were distributed to Army, Navy and Air Force installations in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Panama.

At least two civilian agencies, the Public Health Service and Veterans Administration, also get tomatoes from Marcello through the Defense Department.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mafia in the Tomato Business

Although responsible government officials privately insist they don't like doing business with a Mafia generalissimo, they are obliged by law to buy their tomatoes from the lowest bidder. Not unless the tomatoes fail to pass muster with the Agriculture Department can they be rejected.

The Justice Department has brought pressure on government agencies not to do business with mob-tainted companies. But Mafia lawyers have sued to stop this discrimination.

Marcello is identified in secret government files as "the top ranking member of the Mafia in (the) New Orleans area." He "gained (his) reputation through terroristic activities," the files also reveal.

The public record of his syndicate connections dates back to the Kefauver hearings of the 1950s. He figured again in the "Joe Valachi" hearings of the 1960s and the House crime hearings of the 1970s.

The House hearings indicated he was a $1,600 a-month "salesman" for the Pelican Tomato Company of New Orleans. He is reputed to be an effective salesman, whose offers are seldom refused. He started out in 1962-63 by helping to wrangle a tough contract with several supermarkets.

For the record, Marcello has said only that he is "a public relations man for Pelican Tomato and also adviser to Pelican Tomato." He has sworn under oath he has never been in the Mafia.

Ostensibly, he works for Joseph Matassa, the company secretary-treasurer, with whom Marcello was indicted and acquitted on a jury-tampering trial in 1965.

"He is always a gentleman," said Matassa of Marcello. The tomato tycoon denied any knowledge of Marcello's Mafia ties. "We never do anything with anybody but good people," he said. We were unable to reach Marcello.

MORE ON MARTIN: President Ford stubbornly insisted last week that American Ambassador Graham Martin did a "good job" of directing the evacuation of South Vietnam. "I never had much faith in Monday morning quarterbacks or grandstand quarterbacks," said the President. "I would rather put faith in the man who carried out a very successful evacuation."

Apparently, this barb was aimed at us. We began reporting last month how Martin was botching the evacuation. Because there is a lesson to be learned from every disaster, it may be worthwhile to review the facts.

Actually the story began before Martin arrived in Saigon in July, 1973. We reported on Feb. 1, 1973, that the Joint Chiefs expected the cease-fire to break down and the Communists to win control of all Vietnam.

"Secretly, the Joint Chiefs don't believe President Thieu can survive . . ." we wrote. "(They) have grave doubts about the South Vietnamese Army's ability to repel an offensive without massive American air and artillery support."

Martin emphatically disagreed with this assessment, and he never lost faith in President Thieu until Saigon began collapsing around his ears.

Even the rout of Thieu's armies in the north didn't shake Martin. He insisted that the South Vietnamese Army would dig in, hold the line and then throw the Communists back.

When the Saigon defenses also began to collapse, his advisers wanted to encourage the formation of a government that could negotiate a truce. This would permit the United States to bow out of Vietnam, they contended, with some degree of honor.

But the militant Martin called instead for President Thieu to form a stronger war cabinet and to stiffen the resistance against the Hanoi forces.

Even after Thieu fled the country with a parting blast at the United States, Martin thought there was time to negotiate an honorable settlement. He delayed the evacuation, therefore, to avoid throwing Saigon into chaos.

The Air Force officer in charge of the evacuation effort in Saigon, Brig. Gen. Richard Baughn, kept pressing to move Americans and their Vietnamese supporters out. In desperation, he began flying out Vietnamese employees without Martin's authorization.

The ambassador angrily demanded General Baughn's dismissal right in the middle of the evacuation preparations. A successor was rushed to Saigon to take over. But in the end, tens of thousands of Vietnamese, who had worked for the Americans and could have been saved, were left behind.

Chastened Dollar Buys Less and Less

By William F. Buckley

The frightening stories you hear about prices in Europe are largely true. It will require a major change in the American mind to revise the fiction that Europe is where you go to have a cheap vacation. A generation's experience with a dollar swagging down the European marketplace taking a little of this, a bunch of that, and filling up the basket to overflowing is now as remote as the Paris of Ernest Hemingway.

A few concrete examples. I and my six bags and briefcases needed, the other afternoon, to get from Geneva to Montreux, which is superhighway all the way, about 60 miles. Price? Three hundred francs. The easiest way to translate Swiss francs into what we used to call Real Money is to multiply by four. It comes to $120—for an hour's car ride. (I write these words on the train.)

Two weeks ago I was one night at the Dolder Grand in Zurich, a lovely hotel I have known since childhood. I asked for the smallest suite. The bill was $160. A few months ago, driving by night to the mountains and having gaggled out the food proffered on the airplane by BEA, my wife and I looked for a country inn, found one, ordered two sandwiches each and a bottle of the local wine. Twenty dollars.

The Swiss will tell you, quite politely and quite cogently, that, really, it isn't their fault.

Only two and a half years ago you could take a ten dollar bill to a bank and get 43 francs for it. At that rate the hotels, taxis, and ham sandwiches in Switzerland have risen only by that almost universal ten percent per year that everybody seems to get used to. But when you add to that ten percent two devaluations of the dollar, you get a polarization that makes travel in Switzerland—and France, and Germany—terribly expensive.

It is, I think, not an exaggeration to say that travel within America is substantially cheaper than in Europe. Our gasoline is half as expensive. Our typical motel rooms are half as high. Except for the fancy spots in the fancy cities, our cuisine is, I would guess, about three quarters as high. Inflation, as Lord Keynes reminded us, is a most evil disease not least because its consequences are so subtle, so pernicious, so difficult to track down. The United States has gravely mismanaged its economic affairs, but it is only lately that we begin to realize that all that scope we thought we had by virtue of our dizzying per capita wealth is very largely illusory.

Everyone knows, of course, that the richest per capita state is one of those places in the Persian Gulf, where there is an oil pool per goatherder. And this is true—specifically, of Kuwait, which has a per capita gross national product of $11,000. But surely we are next, and well ahead even of the Europeans?

No. The second richest country (I use per capita income, of course) is Switzerland, at $7,270. After Switzerland comes Sweden, with $6,840. Then Denmark ($6,800); and only after that, the United States with $6,595. We are only a little way ahead of West Germany ($6,215) and France ($5,390). We are just a hair ahead of Canada, after which comes Norway, Australia, Belgium, the Netherlands, Libya, Austria, and Japan.

The big dip comes at this point with Great Britain at $3,385. Recently Mr. Denis Healey, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, proudly announced that the government is spending $2,400 per year on every member of the working population. He doesn't have very far to go before he spends more on Englishmen than Englishmen earn.

But not to stray from the point: the United States is massively rich because it has a huge capital plant geared to produce for two hundred million people. That capital plant can accomplish marvels: it can land people on the moon, produce ten million automobiles, provide a huge percentage of the entire world foodstuffs.

But it is powerless to defend itself against the depredations of politicians who abuse it: by taxing it into premature senility; by improvident fiscal and monetary policies. And by a kind of disgust with it all, of which the best expression was the informative book of Professor Galbraith, The Affluent Society. The United States has done more than any country in the world to lift its own people and—by the export of capital and technology—other people, out of material misery. But a few days in Europe with humiliating trips to the money-changer's window, reminds us that an era is over.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

'Fortress America' Won't Work

By Nicholas Von Hoffman

WASHINGTON — Hear the clink of those dominoes falling in the night. With South Vietnam and Cambodia turned into Communist-style socialist states and Laos apparently on the way to becoming the same, it is embarrassing listening to the liberals ridicule the domino theory.

By the same token Dr. Kissinger is quite right when he murmurs warnings about the dangers of the left moving in here, there and everywhere around the world. You don't have to be a CIA assassin, you don't even have to approve to see that socialism in its many shapes and forms is becoming the dominant political system on the globe.

For 30 years the United States has exhausted and disgraced itself fighting it, and in the end we did indeed lose China, Vietnam, Scandinavia, Libya, Cuba and on and on. That being the case, perhaps we had best begin asking ourselves can there be capitalism in one country alone?

This is the question which Terence McCarthy poses in the current issue of "Ramparts." (With additional articles by Laurence Stern and Dan Griffin of The Washington Post and William Shawcross of The London Sunday Times, this issue of the magazine is absolutely the best discussion of post-Vietnam reality you can get.)

Shortly after the Russian revolution, the rulers of the new Communist state debated whether there could be socialism in one country. For a generation, while being forced to live in international isolation, they found out there could be socialism, albeit of a nasty, brutish kind; but we may find out that it will be harder for American capitalism to go it alone.

Year after year, as place after place adopts one form of socialism or another, we are losing access to the raw materials our industrial plant must have. As the figures developed by McCarthy show, we are failing to trade with the countries with centrally planned economies and bountiful raw materials. World markets are slipping away from us and the government's policy is to encourage the trend.

Our growing political isolation is being matched by economic isolation. Vide our preposterous, drain-America-first oil policy. Instead of seeking stable, secure and mutually profitable trade arrangements with the oil-producing countries, the government proclaims a "Fortress America" brand of economics by which we are supposed to achieve "energy independence."

This is rapidly involving us in a number of dreadful anomalies. In order to achieve energy independence we're actually encouraging foreign oil producers to keep their prices up. We have to, because shale oil and other such petroleum resources are so expensive that they can only be marketed by artificially driving the price of potentially competitive foreign oil out of sight.

Needless to say such policies will not only lower our standard of living but are already beginning to put such a strain on our own capitalist system that we may have to destroy it in order to save it. Have you heard that before? "What is occurring in the U.S. is the extension of socialist forms advanced in the name of the preservation of free enterprise," writes McCarthy, and when you consider what is under way in such areas as the allocation of capital, the rescue of the utility industry by progressively socializing it, and so forth and so on, you can't deny what's happening.

It bears repeating that this isn't a form of socialism many of us, socialists included, are going to like. There will be less and less for almost everyone while we continue to make our society less and less productive, both in terms of its own potential and in comparison to a nation like Russia which shows all the signs of superseding us as the world's foremost industrial and economic power sometime in the next generation.

The costly irony of the situation is that those who have objected most persistently, not only to Vietnam but our whole aimlessly truculent foreign policy, are excoriated by people like Dr. Kissinger as neo-isolationists. "Don't do what these people suggest," he says in effect, "or we'll be letting down our friends," oblivious to the fact that we have fewer and fewer friends. We're barely on speaking terms with half of the nations in the U.N., quite an accomplishment for a nation that was universally admired 25 years ago.

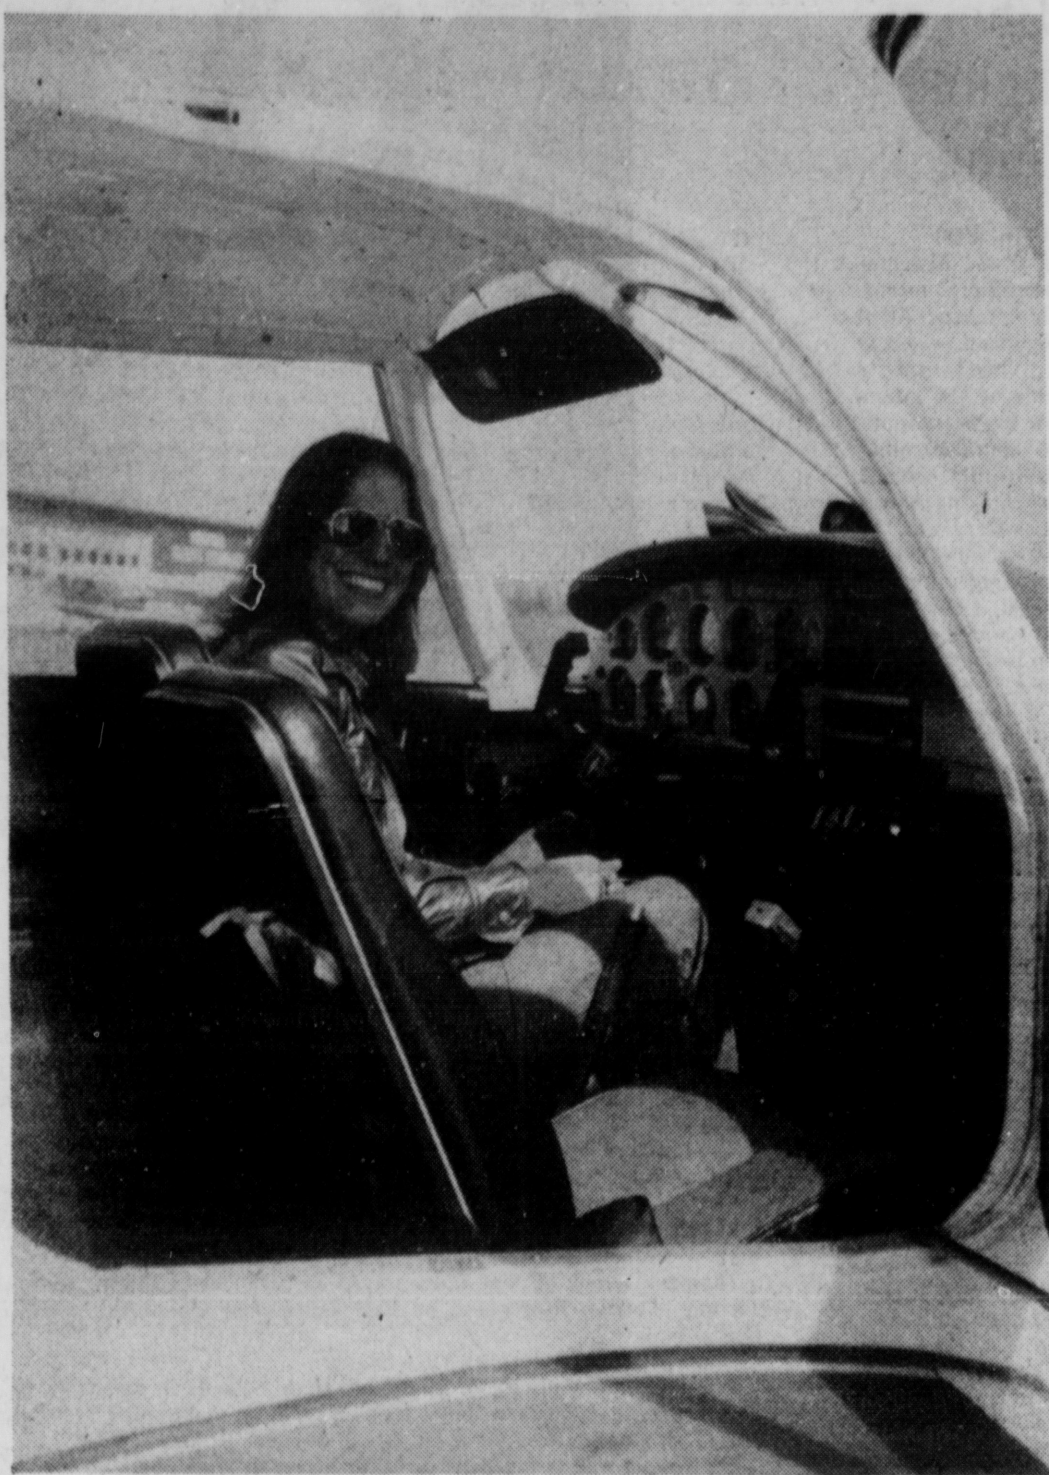

As our people sit in the State Department and pettishly add new nations to the list they dream the CIA will overthrow, Russia, the two Germanys and nations like Japan will trade their manufacture and technology for Vietnamese tungsten, Libyan oil, Jamaican bauxite, etc. We, on the other hand, will have a dwarfish, distorted socialist isolation, which our Presidents will proclaim as independence.

Abigail Davis Enjoys Flying . . . Above the Clouds or Downhill on Skis

By Tobie Geertsema

Unlike the heroine of "Fear of Flying," a current best selling novel, Abigail Davis has no qualms of being on the wing. Or in the cockpit either, for that matter.

At 24, the Onteora Central Schools graduate from Fleischmanns and former ski instructor and racing coach at Hunter Mountain, recently received her Multi-engine Rating. Soaring aloft in a Piper Aztec, she passed her Federal Aeronautics Administration examination with flying colors; became the first woman to receive a multi-engine rating from the FAA Approved Flight School at New Haven Airways in Connecticut.

Unlike most flying students, Abigail Davis is chalking up her ratings in reverse. The vast majority of pilots go for a multi-engine rating after receiving their commercial and instrument rating — and after amassing hundreds and hundreds of hours in the air. Currently pursuing her commercial and instrument rating at the same school, she did it the other way around; took her multi-engine first, since she works for New Haven Airways; has an opportunity to use that rating a great deal more than someone who isn't employed in aviation.

With a total flight time of more than 130 hours already logged in single and multi-engine planes — and with many more hours required for the commercial and instrument rating — Abigail Davis knows exactly what she wants to do with her future.

"I'd like to fly charter flights," she says, "if not here (New Haven Airways) — then somewhere. A lot of women are now flying charter . . . a lot more than ever before."

And, in terms of interest in other women fliers, her attention is not focused on such legendary ladies of the skies as Amelia Earhart and other pioneers, who forsook the earthbound domesticity of femininity for the skyborne life aloft.

Her primary interest in women like herself is lodged in their future hiring by airlines. "That is happening at a more frequent rate than really gets publicized," she says. "Several major airlines, among them Delta and Eastern, now employ women co-pilots." Totally realistic, she feels their co-pilot status is fair — that, as a new breed, women in the pilot's seat will have to start at the bottom; work their way up to airlines' captains.

First woman to receive multi-engine rating from FAA Approved Flight School at New Haven Airways in Connecticut.

She's also totally objective about the role of women in space. Says aviator Davis: "I feel certain there will be women astronauts in the future. The problem up to now has been that astronauts have been chosen from the cream of the crop in the military. But the military now accepts women in the flight program, so it's just a matter of time until enough women are in the program and one or more will excel enough to change military thinking."

And Miss Davis makes it clear that to become an astronaut, a woman will have to excel. "She'll have to be a real natural — a competent flier not only skilled in an airplane, but with a knowledge based in electronic training and engineering." And there'll be women dedicated to acquiring such backgrounds, she's sure. "When they realize it is an option."

Abigail Davis became intrigued by those magnificent flying machines only in early 1973, when she started flying lessons. As a child, she was much more interested in flying downhill than in climbing above the clouds. A skier since the age of eight, she spent her teenage years in Fleischmanns (she's the daughter of Frances M. Davis of that town), and her OCS high school days skiing the Catskill slopes; was an instructor and racing coach at Hunter Mountain. A 1972 graduate of Ithaca College (majoring in such non-aerial subjects as British Literature and Philosophy), she did some professional ski racing while working on her double major B.A.; worked with junior racing programs during her campus years.

She still enjoys packing her skis into a plane and flying off to Vermont's inviting Mt. Snow trails. She's also an avid reader.

But her time-consuming schedule limits any other interests. She dropped out of graduate school when scholarly pursuits, combined with the rigorous demands of flying, "became too much and I had to make a decision as to what was more important."

That schedule could hardly have been more demanding that her present one. These days, she's attending commercial ground school night classes, working 45 hours a week as a flight dispatcher at New Haven Airways (scheduling charter flights, seeing that 30 airplanes are signed in regularly for proper shop maintenance, scheduling 160 students in the FAA approved flight school on the field for private pilot instrument, and airline transport rating instruction), doing some sales work, and not a little additional flying on her own.

But, at the end of the wind tunnel, Abigail Davis — who climbed the highest mountains of the Catskills on skis — will see the light — when she looks down on those peaks and far loftier ones from her pilot's seat on the way from one charter flight to another. For there is no reason not to believe that the course she has set for herself in written in the stars.

A capacity-plus crowd attended the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary luncheon-fashion show May 7 at Williams Lake Hotel in Rosendale. Guests viewed fashions by Ita Cortale, designer, who maintains shops in Kingston and Margaretville. ### Doing The Right Thing

By Elizabeth L. Post

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I were guests recently at a special luncheon. All of us were professional people in church work. While waiting to be served, one of the guests who holds the highest administrative post of our denomination came over and greeted each lady by shaking hands and chatting a bit. I was the first he greeted. I stood to shake hands and greet him. No other lady stood. I did so in recognition of his high office. I am older than he, and retired.

Was I correct?

Mrs. G. Grant

Dear Mrs. Grant: There are times when conflicting rules make it very difficult to know what to do. In this case the choices to consider were, "Does one stand to greet an important personage?" or "Does a lady ever rise to greet a man?"

Your decision to stand was understandable, as you wanted to show your respect for the man's high position in your church. However, I think you should have remained seated. Most men feel somewhat uncomfortable if a woman — especially an older woman — rises for them, even though they may be quite prominent.

Since none of the other ladies followed your example, it would seem that they did not feel that the gentleman's position truly merited their rising, and they, too, may have been embarrassed by your action.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please explain what is necessary in regard to graduation invitations? For example, to whom they should be sent? Each year we receive a number of them. Sometimes from classmates of our children who we hardly know. Does such an invitation obligate us to send a gift?

Mrs. L. Phillips
Dear Mrs. Phillips: NO invitation obligates the receiver to send a gift when he barely knows the sender.

I am surprised at this, because at most schools only enough invitations are available to include the immediate family of the graduate, but apparently this is not always so. In any case, when you receive such an invitation from a family that is in no way "close" to you, simply send a congratulatory card.

For suggestions about to whom, when, how and what to give, you will find my booklet "Gifts and Giving" most helpful. To get a copy, send 50¢ in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this newspaper.

Eleanor La Gattuta, daughter of Mrs. Joseph La Gattuta of Orchard Hills, Highland, became the bride of Louis William Tierney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis William Tierney Sr. of Old New Paltz Road, New Paltz.

The Rev. Father Gollinge officiated at the ceremony at St. Augustine's Church in Highland. Traditional wedding selections were provided.

Given in marriage by James La Gattuta, the bride was attended by Vincenza La Gattuta of Highland. Attendants were Theresa La Gattuta, Ann O'Connor, both of Highland; and Margie Hartman of High Falls.

Thomas Tierney of New Paltz served as best man. Ushering were Michael Tierney, Patrick Ruiz, both of New Paltz; and Dominick La Gattuta of Highland.

A reception took place at Villa Baglieri.

The bride, a graduate of Highland High School, is employed by Great American Grocery in New Paltz. Her husband, an alumnus of New Paltz High School, is employed by Love Oil Corporation in Arlington.

The couple will reside at 69-B Main Street in Highland.

Churchwell-LaFond Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Churchwell of Highland announce the engagement of their daughter, Debra, to Maurice R. LaFond Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice R. LaFond Sr. of Cleveland, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a Private First Class in the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., where she is a Finance Specialist. She is a 1974 graduate of Highland Jr.-Sr. High School.

Her fiancé is a Specialist 4 in the U.S. Army, also stationed at Fort Campbell. He works in Military Intelligence and is a photographer for the army. A 1970 alumnus of Wickliffe High School, he attended Lakeland University in Ohio for two years.

A July 26th wedding is planned.

Miss Vernice Keller, RN (center), community health nurse for Ulster County, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Ulster County Public Health Committee held at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church parish house in Highland. Mrs. LeeRoy Crosswell of Shokan (L), president of the committee, presided at a meeting of the volunteer committees representing 10 county towns. With the speaker and president is Miss Helen Geneis, RN, director of public health nursing of the Ulster County Health Department. Miss Keller, who is employed at the Hudson River Psychiatric Center in Poughkeepsie, spoke on what is available for a mentally ill person in Ulster County. Mrs. Frank Snyder of Olivebridge arranged the program.

Rule for Nurses, Circa 1880

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I enjoyed your column in which you reprinted "Rules for Female Teachers in 1915."

Perhaps you would enjoy reading the rules for female nurses published in 1880. Nurses were told they must:

First: Bring in a scuttle of coal each day.

Second: Report every day at 7 a.m., and leave at 8 p.m., except on the Sabbath "on which day you will be off from 12 noon until 2 p.m."

Third: Graduate nurses in good standing will be given an evening off each week for church services.

Fourth: Any nurse who smokes, uses liquor, goes to the beauty shop or frequents dance halls will give the director a good reason to suspect her worth, her intentions and integrity.

Fifth: The nurse who performs faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of $.05 a day, providing there are no hospital debts outstanding.

A footnote, Abby: To illustrate how much progress has been made in achieving political and economic justice, in 1845 three young women who were employed as copyists in the U.S. Patent Office were threatened with loss of their jobs.

A member of Congress wrote to the secretary of the Interior, Robert McClelland, on behalf of one of the copyists and received the following response: "There is every disposition on my part to do anything for the lady in question except to retain her or any of the other females who work in the rooms of the Patent Office. I have no object to the employment of females in the performance of such duties as they are competent to discharge, but there is such obvious impropriety in the mixing of sexes within the walls of a public office that I have determined to arrest the practice.

The lady in question lost her job, anyway. But she later distinguished herself in a job considered exclusively male. The lady's name was Clara Barton. Her work on the Civil War battlefields and as founder of the American Red Cross make her one of the most illustrious women in our nation's history.

Very truly yours,
JENNINGS RANDOLPH,
U.S. SENATOR
WEST VIRGINIA

DEAR SENATOR RANDOLPH: Thank you for a dandy contribution to my column. Your interest in equal rights for women is not surprising, since you co-sponsored the Equal Rights for Women Amendment, which I hope the necessary 38 states will ratify.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My family and I enjoy going to the cafeteria to eat, but we used to get there and find ourselves without a bib for our 2-year-old son.

Now my husband always carries one of his tie-tacks in his pocket. We can use any cloth napkin for a bib by fastening it in the back with the tie-tack.

Mom could carry one in her change purse if Dad isn't along.

Dorothy Bullock

Dear Heloise:

When using fabric softener that needs mixing with water, I avoid trips to the faucet because I have an extra plastic jug that I keep ready with a batch already mixed up.

Town Meeting in Marlboro

Nuclear Energy Meeting Set

KINGSTON An open informational meeting on the use of nuclear energy for the generation of electric power has been called by Legislator Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 6) for Saturday at 10 a.m. at George Washington School. Debrosky is chairman of the Ulster

County Committee to Study the Impact of Atomic Sites. Three out of four speakers for the meeting have been named. They include two members of the New York Federation For Safe Energy, Dr. Stephen Shafer of New York City and Larry Bogart of Allendale, N. J. Both are reputedly qualified to speak concerning health, safety, environmental, political and security aspects of the subject. Also speaking will be Charles Sauers, former Oswego County attorney, who is a former representative of the Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA). He will draw on his personal experience in the Oswego area where atomic energy plants are currently in operation.

The fourth speaker, whose name will be announced, will also be a representative of ERDA.

A question and answer period will follow the presentation and local officials and the public are invited to attend.

Gilman Wants FAA Stewart Report Now

MIDDLETOWN Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th) has called on the Federal Aviation Administration to release its previously prepared environmental impact statement on Stewart Airport now rather than waiting another four to six months while a new environmental statement is prepared.

The environmental impact statement deals specifically with proposals to extend the main runway, which Gilman supports. "It is high time this statement was released," he said, "regardless of where we are heading with Stewart in the future. It is obvious that this runway extension is the key to any future development of the airport. A two-year delay (referring to the 1973 study) is more than enough," Gilman contended in a letter to FAA officials.

In other transportation issues, Gilman announced he is supporting a proposal by State Assemblyman Eugene Levy for the establishment of a (Mid-Hudson) regional transportation authority.

"It is an excellent idea," Gilman said. "For too long our region has relied on its transportation planning on the New York City-oriented Metropolitan Transportation Authority. It is high time we assumed local control of our transportation resources and planning."

On the subject of rail transportation, Gilman said a recently released supplemental rail plan for the Erie Lackawanna Railroad, though it recommends preservation of five Erie Lines, "leaves unanswered the important long-term question of the future of branch rail lines throughout the Northeast."

Gilman said a "compromise solution" will have to be worked out, and urged a full federal subsidy for all light density rail lines for at least two years, to enable the United States Railway Association, a Federal planning agency, to collect new and more accurate data on branch line operations.

Congressman Gilman also co-sponsored legislation to extend the Federal rail service continuation subsidy program beyond the two-year limit prescribed in the original Regional Rail Reorganization Act, and to increase the Federal share of the subsidy from 70 percent to 100 percent for the first two years.

The Erie Lackawanna rail plan, released last week recommends that five out of seven local Erie lines have full freight service, either through acquisition by a solvent carrier or by being included in Conrail. These lines are the Hackensack to Nanuet Junction line; Nanuet to Spring Valley; Spring Valley to Tallman; Greycourt to Newburgh, and Middletown to Fair Oaks.

Two lines—Campbell Hall to Montgomery and Crawford Junction to Pine Push—were recommended for subsidies of $33,420 and $36,261, respectively, under the Federal-State matching grant program outlined in the Rail Act.

The recent Erie plan did not deal with main lines or with passenger service.

The Regional Rail Act of 1973 created a new rail corporation called Conrail, and required the consolidation of the lines of seven bankrupt railroads into a single, profitable system that would meet the rail needs of the community.

"It has become clear that the U.S.R.A. approach to branch lines leans too heavily on financial considerations," Gilman said. "Since the Rail Act specifies that local needs must continue to be met, some compromise solution will be needed to minimize the impact of branch line abandonments. We must make certain we are making decisions based on the best possible data, since a very great deal of money is involved in this proposed reorganization."

It's working

Watson Credits Byron in Nelson

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI) — Tom Watson is so far in debt to Byron Nelson it is possible he may never be able to pay off. It was Nelson's tournament that Watson won Monday, collecting his second tour triumph and the $35,000 that went with it.

But it was also Nelson who took Watson aside at a critical point in the youngster's career last year and pointed him in the proper direction.

"I admire Byron so much," Watson said Monday following his two-stroke victory in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic. "I think he is one of the top three golfers of all time."

"He was very kind to me

after the U.S. Open last year. I had just blown the tournament. I shot a 79 on the last day (after leading at the end of 54 holes).

"Byron came over to me and said, 'Can I have five minutes.' I was there crying in my beer at the time. He told me, 'I like your golf swing. But there are some things in your tempo that could be corrected.'"

"He told me I wasn't moving my hips through the ball. I took his advice and I appreciate that advice very much. I feel proud that Byron recognized me as having potential."

Watson's potential has now boosted his 1975 earnings to $94,000.

His win Monday in the rain-delayed Nelson event came thanks to a final round 65, which vaulted him out of the pack to a 15-under par 269 which tied the tournament re-biggest payday ever for Smith and Ewing — Smith collecting $19,950 for second and Ewing $12,425 for third.

Ewing's 272, Larry Nelson and Rod Funseth deadlocked for fourth place at 11-under 273s — netting them $7,700 each.

The Nelson event was de-front side and then two putted the par-five tenth hole for a birdie and ran in a 15-footer for another birdie at the 11th. Watson birdied the short, par-three 13th as well and then wrapped up his victory with a 16-foot birdie putt from off the edge of the green at the treacherous par-four 16th.

Not only did Watson tie the tournament record with his 269, but the entire field took the Preston Trail Golf Club Course apart.

"I think Byron intends to toughen this course up next year," Watson said. "I don't think he wants any low scores being shot here."

But, of course, whatever Byron wants to do is just fine with Tom.

SPORTS TODAY

cord and gave him a two-stroke victory over Bob E. Smith and a three-stroke edge over third place finisher Jack Ewing.

And if Watson was delighted with his win, Smith and Ewing seemed delighted with their finishes as well. It was the

"I won only $20,000 last year and I won $20,000 this week," Smith said. "Tom may have won the tournament, but he had better be looking over his shoulder because here I come."

After Smith's 271 and layed a day because of a heavy rainstorm Sunday and when play opened Monday Watson was at nine under par, one stroke off the lead.

Watson moved in to a share of the lead by the ninth hole by firing a two-under 33 on the

Torre Gives Yogi 50th Birthday Present

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Torre gave New York Mets Manager Yogi Berra a three-run double for his 50th birthday and then awarded himself with a canceled eye examination.

Torre's hit accounted for all the Mets' runs as they slipped by the San Francisco Giants 3-2 Monday night, and that's why Torre decided his eyes were okay.

"In the last four or five games, I've been hitting the ball well," Torre said. "So I canceled by eye examination."

Trailing 1-0 going into the bottom of the seventh inning, Mike Phillips, who had three hits, Felix Millan and Del Unser loaded the bases with singles, setting up Torre's game-winning double.

"It was a fast ball," Torre explained. "The first two were down. Yost (Eddie, the third base coach) held his hand belt high, looking for pitch up a little. It was a fast ball."

Jon Matlack had a four-hitter with six strikeouts going but was pulled for pinch-hitter Ed Kranepool in the seventh. He gained the win to even his record at 3-3.

Matlack was happy to come out since the Mets won but surprised at the turn-of-events.

"It doesn't happen very often," he said of the Mets' winning after a pitcher leaves. "It's always nice to come from behind."

Jim Barr allowed seven hits before giving up the three singles in the seventh and was charged with his third loss against as many wins.

Rick Baldwin, who relieved Matlack, was taken out after Willie Montanez singled in Chris Speier in the ninth inning. Tom Hall came on to gain his first save.

The Los Angeles Dodgers want it known that Johnny isn't the only Bench involved in the National League pennant race.

The Dodgers have great respect for Cincinnati's Bench but they like their own, too, even if it is spelled with a small "B," and made up of fellows like Tom Paciorek, Lee Lacy and Rick Auerbach. All three have been pressed into the starting lineup because of injuries and have delivered in clutch situations.

Auerbach drove in three runs and Paciorek and Lacy one each Monday night when the Dodgers scored a 6-4, 10-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Jim Brewer picked up the victory for four innings of relief work after Andy Messersmith became ill with the flu.

The Cardinals tied the score at 3-3 against Brewer with a run in the bottom of the ninth but the Dodgers scored three in the top of the 10th to hand Mike Garman the loss.

Paciorek's run-scoring single broke the 3-3 tie and Auerbach followed with a two-run single which enabled the Dodgers to offset a Cardinal run scored in the bottom of the 10th. Auerbach had previously singled home a run and Lacy driven in one with a groundout in the third inning.

Lou Brock had three hits and Ted Simmons two for the Cardinals.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to go 3½ games ahead of the Reds in the National League's Western Division race.

The Montreal Expos bombed the Atlanta Braves 11-1 and the New York Mets shaded the San Francisco Giants 3-2 in other NL games. The Reds' game at Philadelphia was rained out. The Oakland A's defeated the Boston Red Sox 5-3 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 5-0 in the only American League games.

Expos 11, Braves 1

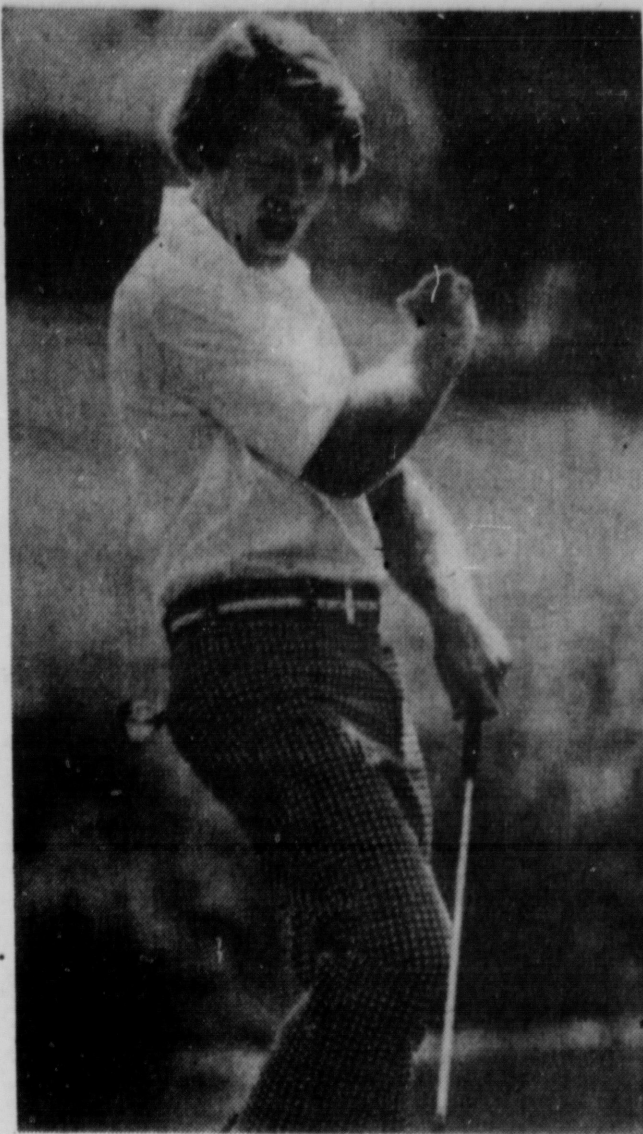

Rookie Pat Scanlon drove in four runs, including three with his first major league homer, as the Expos unleashed a 12-hit attack which handed Atlanta's Carl Morton his third straight loss. Scanlon, Tony Scott, Pepe Mangual and Larry Bittner had two RBIs each for the Expos. Steve Rogers went the distance with an eight-hitter for his second win.

A's 5, Red Sox 3

Jim Holt's two-run single was the big blow of a four-run seventh inning rally which lifted the A's over the Red Sox. Rolfe Fingers pitched 6 1-3 innings of one-hit relief for the win although Paul Lindblad came on to retire the last batter in the ninth. Fingers has now appeared in 18 of Oakland's 30 games and has a 3-2 won-lost record.

Tigers 5, Royals 0

Vern Ruhle pitched 7 1-3 innings and John Hiller completed the shutout for the Tigers over the Royals. Rookie Leon Roberts hit a three-run homer for Detroit and has hit safely in all 14 games in which he has played. Kansas City stranded seven runners in the first three innings and 15 in the game.

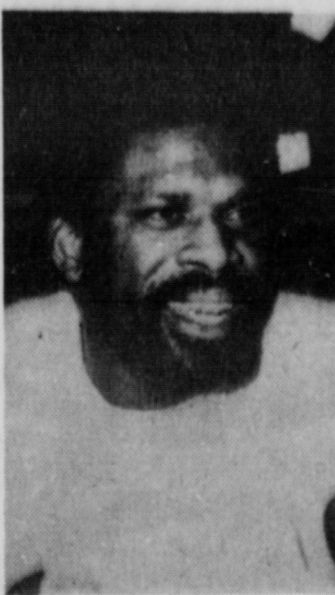

WATSON REACTS TO BIRDIE PUTT

Ron Lyle: A Thinker

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Ron Lyle says he is going to think his way past Muhammad Ali's fists to heavyweight champion of the world. His day has come and never mind what it says under Lyle's picture on the poster promoting the fight Friday night.

It just says "worthy contender," which classifies the eighth-ranked Lyle as little more than a pretender to Ali's crown.

But Lyle says he isn't concerned. He is supremely confident his title assault will succeed through "training and thinking." He knows exactly where he's been and feels certain he sees the end of a long and rocky road and he's already tasting, in his mind, the fruits of victory.

RON LYLE

"It's gonna take a lot of things," Lyle explained. "Mainly thinking. I'm going to have to think about the fight as it goes on. I'll be telling myself 'Don't tire yourself out. Don't punch yourself out. Do everything right.' I'm going to enjoy the title and the victory. I've put all the ten years of sweat in. I'm going to take some time out and enjoy myself. It's been a long road for me."

Lyle's road includes a nine-year stop in Colorado jails and prisons for second degree murder because of a gang fight as a teenager.

Now 33, it's been 5½ years since he was paroled. He started boxing in prison, became a National AAU champion in 1970, turned pro in 1971 and has a 30-2-1 record.

"I've had a lot of time both inside (prison) and out to find out about myself," Lyle said. "A lot of lonely times in motel rooms and cells. I had a lot of questions and I came up with a lot of answers. Is it worth it? Is it worth giving up my precious freedom?"

"In my business, you have to isolate yourself, imprison yourself really. It tells you how bad you really want it. Who wants to take himself away from freedom of movement and freedom of choice? So I say this is it. I'm going to dedicate myself to this until I get what I want. The title. But it's paid off and it was worth it. That pretty well draws the picture. I can handle anything else that comes along, including Ali."

Can Kate Help Flyers?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers, who last week were on the verge of sweeping their second straight playoff series, may rely on an old friend tonight when they play the New York Islanders in the seventh and deciding game of the Stanley Cup semifinal round.

On occasions when Kate Smith's rendition of "God Bless America" was played prior to a game instead of the National Anthem, the Flyers had a 42-31 record.

The Flyers are likely to go with Kate again tonight because they have seen a 3-0 advantage in their series with the Islanders dwindle to a 3-3 tie and must win the seventh game to go into the finals against the Buffalo Sabres.

The Islanders, again employing the tight defense the Flyers are famous for, won 2-1 in Long Island Sunday night, their third straight victory, to force the seventh-game showdown.

And the Islanders, who are seeking a second straight "miracle" after coming from three games back to beat Pittsburgh and gain the semifinals, aren't worried about Kate Smith.

The singer appeared in person last season when the Flyers upset the Boston Bruins here to capture the Stanley Cup.

"If they want to use Kate Smith as a crutch, that's fine with us," said Islander defenseman Gerry Hart. "They've still got to play the game." And New York coach Al Arbour said the singer "will be no factor. The game will be played on the ice."

Flyers center and team captain Bobby Clarke said they "don't plan to do anything differently for the seventh game, not after you've played 100 games this year one way."

But he admitted that if there is such a thing as the Islanders having momentum after their three straight victories, "I hope it doesn't mean anything or we're in trouble."

Flyers coach Fred Shero said, "you can't intimidate the Islanders. We can't outmuscle them like we did in the seventh game against the Rangers last year. The Islanders are too much like us."

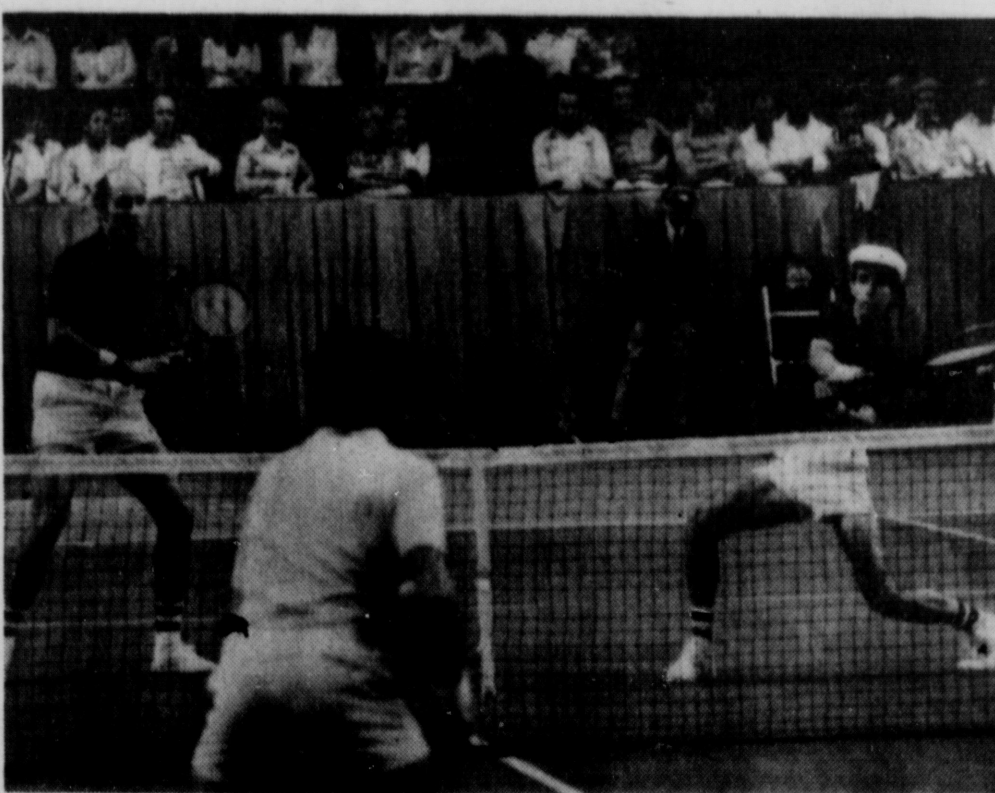

Bill Barber, a Flyers winger who has been playing injured, insisted that "our backs have been to the wall before. It boils down to one game and we're going to win it."

But it was defenseman Joe Watson who expressed a thought that has to be on the minds of a lot of the Flyers.

Last Wednesday, The Flyers appeared to have the playoffs won in four straight when Reggie Leach scored as time ran out at the end of regulation and the red goal light went on as the buzzer sounded. But officials ruled the clock had expired before the goal and the Islanders went on to win in sudden death.

"Just think," Watson said in New York after Sunday's loss. "One lousy second and we win it."

Ramirez and Gottfried Overcome Politics

Tennis and Politics

South Africa's Bob Hewitt (l) watches as teammate Fred McMillan returns a shot to Raul Ramirez (the ball is between Ramirez's elbow and body) during the politically delayed finals of the World Championship Tennis Doubles Tournament in Dallas. (UPI)

DALLAS (UPI) — Raul Ramirez and Brian Gottfried won the right to call themselves world doubles champions Monday night, holding off a rally to defeat Frew McMillan and Bob Hewitt, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, in the politically tinged World Championship Tennis finals.

Gottfried and Ramirez won the WCT doubles tournament in Mexico City earlier this month, but Hewitt and McMillan, the defending champions, were deported from Mexico before the tournament began because of the apartheid policy of their homeland of South Africa.

Because of the Mexican government's action, Monday night's title match was arranged.

Gottfried and Ramirez almost blew the South Africans off the court early in the match, jumping ahead by two sets and moving in front by a service break in the third. But then the previously untouchable serves of Gottfried began to weaken and the South Africans began to play with more confidence.

Hewitt and McMillan broke Gottfried's serve in the 10th game of the third set to get back in the match and then stormed to an easy triumph in the fourth set. Then, down a service break in the final set, it was Ramirez and Gottfried's turn to rally.

Although service breaks came in rapid-fire order late in the fifth set, the critical game was the seventh when, with Hewitt serving, Ramirez and Gottfried forced the game to deuce five times before finally breaking serve.

The two teams traded service breaks in the ninth and 10th games to leave things at 5-5, but Hewitt missed a volley at the net in the 11th game at 30-40 to allow Ramirez and Gottfried to break for the final time.

Gottfried, whose serve had been so brilliant early in the match and so average in the middle of the match, produced four good first serves to force a love game and give his team the match.

McMillan and Hewitt, who arrived in Dallas only a few hours before the match, accepted their checks for $5,000 each without saying a word to the small crowd gathered at Moody Coliseum.

Ramirez and Gottfried, who had said they felt their were the world's doubles champions no matter what happened Monday night, received a combined $25,000 for Monday night's victory.

Olympic Tickets at Ward's

KINGSTON

Ticket application forms to the 1976 Summer Olympics in Montreal will be available Thursday in all 2,300 retail and catalogue stores of Montgomery Ward the exclusive distributors of the tickets in the United States.

The applications and schedules of Olympic events can be picked up at catalogue order desks in Ward's stores until Aug. 15. In Kingston, the materials may be obtained at the Montgomery Ward building in the Ulster Avenue Mall.

George Dumbauld, manager of the Kingston Montgomery Ward store, said "we're ready for the rush. We have all the information necessary to order tickets."

"With Montreal so close, we expect to have a heavy New York state attendance for the games."

Customers who do not live near a Ward retail or catalogue store can obtain ticket applications forms and Olympic events schedules by writing to Wards Auto Club-Olympics, P. O. Box 4000, Taylor, Mich., 48180. Requests must include 25 cents in coin or stamps to help cover mailing costs.

Sidney A. McKnight, the president of Montgomery Ward, said that in obtaining tickets, customers should first determine the events and prices they desire, enter the code numbers of the events (shown in the schedule), the number of seats desired and calculate the total price, including a 6-cent handling charge for each ticket.

A check or money order, payable to Wards Auto Club Olympics, should be mailed with the order to Wards Auto Club-Select-A-Seat Office, P. O. Box 2000, Phoenix, Ariz., 85001.

No ticket orders may be charged and cash cannot be accepted. No telephone orders can be honored.

A confirmation voucher verifying the status of each order will be sent to the customer within three weeks of receipt of the order. Official printed tickets will be mailed to the purchaser, in accordance with the vouchers, by June, 1976.

Each order will be limited to 10 tickets per event. No special group rates or discounts will be permitted. McKnight said Ward also would not handle cancellations, refunds or exchanges.

Town Meeting in Marlboro

Nuclear Energy Meeting Set

KINGSTON An open informational meeting on the use of nuclear energy for the generation of electric power has been called by Legislator Glenn A. Debrosky (R-Dist. 6) for Saturday at 10 a.m. at George Washington School. Debrosky is chairman of the Ulster

County Committee to Study the Impact of Atomic Sites. Three out of four speakers for the meeting have been named. They include two members of the New York Federation For Safe Energy, Dr. Stephen Shafer of New York City and Larry Bogart of Allendale, N. J. Both are reputedly qualified to speak concerning health, safety, environmental, political and security aspects of the subject.

Also speaking will be Charles Sauers, former Oswego County attorney, who is a former representative of the Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA). He will draw on his personal experience in the Oswego area where atomic energy plants are currently in operation.

The fourth speaker, whose name will be announced, will also be a representative of ERDA.

A question and answer period will follow the presentation and local officials and the public are invited to attend.

Gilman Wants FAA Stewart Report Now

MIDDLETOWN Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th) has called on the Federal Aviation Administration to release its previously prepared environmental impact statement on Stewart Airport now rather than waiting another four to six months while a new environmental statement is prepared.

The environmental impact statement deals specifically with proposals to extend the main runway, which Gilman supports. "It is high time this statement was released," he said, "regardless of where we are heading with Stewart in the future. It is obvious that this runway extension is the key to any future development of the airport. A two-year delay (referring to the 1973 study) is more than enough." Gilman contended in a letter to FAA officials.

In other transportation issues, Gilman announced he is supporting a proposal by State Assemblyman Eugene Levy for the establishment of a (Mid-Hudson) regional transportation authority.

"It is an excellent idea," Gilman said. "For too long our region has relied on its transportation planning on the New York City-oriented Metropolitan Transportation Authority. It is high time we assumed local control of our transportation resources and planning."

On the subject of rail transportation, Gilman said a recently released supplemental rail plan for the Erie Lackawanna Railroad, though it recommends preservation of five Erie Lines, "leaves unanswered the important long-term question of the future of branch rail lines throughout the Northeast."

Gilman said a "compromise solution" will have to be worked out, and urged a full federal subsidy for all light density rail lines for at least two years, to enable the United States Railway Association, a Federal planning agency, to collect new and more accurate data on branch line operations.

Congressman Gilman also co-sponsored legislation to extend the Federal rail service continuation subsidy program beyond the two-year limit prescribed in the original Regional Rail Reorganization Act, and to increase the Federal share of the subsidy from 70 percent to 100 percent for the first two years.

The Erie Lackawanna rail plan, released last week recommends that five out of seven local Erie lines have full freight service, either through acquisition by a solvent carrier or by being included in Conrail. These lines are the Hackensack to Nanuet Junction line; Nanuet to Spring Valley; Spring Valley to Tallman; Greycourt to Newburgh, and Middletown to Fair Oaks.

Two lines—Campbell Hall to Montgomery and Crawford Junction to Pine Push—were recommended for subsidies of $33,420 and $36,261, respectively, under the Federal-State matching grant program outlined in the Rail Act.

The recent Erie plan did not deal with main lines or with passenger service.

The Regional Rail Act of 1973 created a new rail corporation called Conrail, and required the consolidation of the lines of seven bankrupt railroads into a single, profitable system that would meet the rail needs of the community.

"It has become clear that the U.S.R.A. approach to branch lines leans too heavily on financial considerations," Gilman said. "Since the Rail Act specifies that local needs must continue to be met, some compromise solution will be needed to minimize the impact of branch line abandonments. We must make certain we are making decisions based on the best possible data, since a very great deal of money is involved in this proposed reorganization."

City Parking Receipts Up for Month of April

KINGSTON Owing perhaps to the advent of spring, parking receipts for the city of Kingston jumped by some 25 percent in April as compared to March of this year.

April receipts were almost $7,500 as compared to just under $6,000 for March.

On-street parking lead the way, rising from $3,975.67 in March to $4,933.51 last month. Receipts for the Up-town Parking Garage on North Front Street were $2,556.40 last month as compared to $1,974.50 in March.

Based on March-April receipts, parking revenues will be just over $81,000 for the year. City officials estimated $75,000 in the 1975 budget drawn up in December of last year.

Watson Credits Byron in Nelson

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI) — Tom Watson is so far in debt to Byron Nelson it is possible he may never be able to pay off. It was Nelson's tournament that Watson won Monday, collecting his second tour triumph and the $35,000 that went with it.

But it was also Nelson who took Watson aside at a critical point in the youngster's career last year and pointed him in the proper direction.

"I admire Byron so much," Watson said Monday following his two-stroke victory in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic. "I think he is one of the top three golfers of all time."

"He was very kind to me

after the U.S. Open last year. I had just blown the tournament. I shot a 79 on the last day (after leading at the end of 54 holes).

"Byron came over to me and said, 'Can I have five minutes.' I was there crying in my beer at the time. He told me, 'I like your golf swing. But there are some things in your tempo that could be corrected.'"

"He told me I wasn't moving my hips through the ball. I took his advice and I appreciate that advice very much. I feel proud that Byron recognized me as having potential."

Watson's potential has now boosted his 1975 earnings to $94,000.

His win Monday in the rain-delayed Nelson event came thanks to a final round 65, which vaulted him out of the pack to a 15-under par 269 which tied the tournament re-biggest payday ever for Smith and Ewing — Smith collecting $19,950 for second and Ewing $12,425 for third.

Ewing's 272, Larry Nelson and Rod Funseth deadlocked for fourth place at 11-under 273s — netting them $7,700 each. The Nelson event was de-front side and then two putted the par-five tenth hole for a birdie and ran in a 15-footer for another birdie at the 11th. Watson birdied the short, parthree 13th as well and then wrapped up his victory with a 16-foot birdie putt from off the edge of the green at the treacherous par-four 16th.

Not only did Watson tie the tournament record with his 269, but the entire field took the Preston Trail Golf Club Course apart.

"I think Byron intends to toughen this course up next year," Watson said. "I don't think he wants any low scores being shot here."

But, of course, whatever Byron wants to do is just fine with Tom.

SPORTS TODAY

cord and gave him a two-stroke victory over Bob E. Smith and a three-stroke edge over third place finisher Jack Ewing.

And if Watson was delighted with his win, Smith and Ewing seemed delighted with their finishes as well. It was the

"I won only $20,000 last year and I won $20,000 this week," Smith said. "Tom may have won the tournament, but he had better be looking over his shoulder because here I come."

After Smith's 271 and layed a day because of a heavy rainstorm Sunday and when play opened Monday Watson was at nine under par, one stroke off the lead.

Watson moved in to a share of the lead by the ninth hole by firing a two-under 33 on the

Torre Gives Yogi 50th Birthday Present

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Torre gave New York Mets Manager Yogi Berra a three-run double for his 50th birthday and then awarded himself with a canceled eye examination.

Torre's hit accounted for all the Mets' runs as they slipped by the San Francisco Giants 3-2 Monday night, and that's why Torre decided his eyes were okay.

"In the last four or five games, I've been hitting the ball well," Torre said. "So I canceled by eye examination."

Trailing 1-0 going into the bottom of the seventh inning, Mike Phillips, who had three hits, Felix Millan and Del Unser loaded the bases with singles, setting up Torre's game-winning double.

"It was a fast ball," Torre explained. "The first two were down. Yost (Eddie, the third base coach) held his hand belt high, looking for pitch up a little. It was a fast ball."

Jon Matlack had a four-hitter with six strikeouts going but was pulled for pinch-hitter Ed Kranepool in the seventh. He gained the win to even his record at 3-3.

Matlack was happy to come out since the Mets won but surprised at the turn-of-events.

"It doesn't happen very often," he said of the Mets' winning after a pitcher leaves. "It's always nice to come from behind."

Jim Barr allowed seven hits before giving up the three singles in the seventh and was charged with his third loss against as many wins.

Rick Baldwin, who relieved Matlack, was taken out after Willie Montanez singled in Chris Speier in the ninth inning. Tom Hall came on to gain his first save.

The Los Angeles Dodgers want it known that Johnny isn't the only Bench involved in the National League pennant race.

The Dodgers have great respect for Cincinnati's Bench but they like their own, too, even if it is spelled with a small "B," and made up of fellows like Tom Paciorek, Lee Lacy and Rick Auerbach. All three have been pressed into the starting lineup because of injuries and have delivered in clutch situations.

Auerbach drove in three runs and Paciorek and Lacy one each Monday night when the Dodgers scored a 6-4, 10-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Jim Brewer picked up the victory for four innings of relief work after Andy Messersmith became ill with the flu.

The Cardinals tied the score at 3-3 against Brewer with a run in the bottom of the ninth but the Dodgers scored three in the top of the 10th to hand Mike Garman the loss.

Paciorek's run-scoring single broke the 3-3 tie and Auerbach followed with a two-run single which enabled the Dodgers to offset a Cardinal run scored in the bottom of the 10th. Auerbach had previously singled home a run and Lacy driven in one with a groundout in the third inning.

Lou Brock had three hits and Ted Simmons two for the Cardinals.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to go 3½ games ahead of the Reds in the National League's Western Division race.

The Montreal Expos bombed the Atlanta Braves 11-1 and the New York Mets shaded the San Francisco Giants 3-2 in other NL games. The Reds' game at Philadelphia was rained out. The Oakland A's defeated the Boston Red Sox 5-3 and the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 5-0 in the only American League games.

Expos 11, Braves 1

Rookie Pat Scanlon drove in four runs, including three with his first major league homer, as the Expos unleashed a 12-hit attack which handed Atlanta's Carl Morton his third straight loss. Scanlon, Tony Scott, Pepe Mangual and Larry Bittner had two RBIs each for the Expos. Steve Rogers went the distance with an eight-hitter for his second win.

A's 5, Red Sox 3

Jim Holt's two-run single was the big blow of a four-run seventh inning rally which lifted the A's over the Red Sox. Rollie Fingers pitched 6 1-3 innings of one-hit relief for the win although Paul Lindblad came on to retire the last batter in the ninth. Fingers has now appeared in 18 of Oakland's 30 games and has a 3-2 won-lost record.

Tigers 5, Royals 0

Vern Ruhl pitched 7 1-3 innings and John Hiller completed the shutout for the Tigers over the Royals. Rookie Leon Roberts hit a three-run homer for Detroit and has hit safely in all 14 games in which he has played. Kansas City stranded seven runners in the first three innings and 15 in the game.

DALLAS (UPI) — Raul Ramirez and Brian Gottfried won the right to call themselves world doubles champions Monday night, holding off a rally to defeat Frew McMillan and Bob Hewitt, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, in the politically tinged World Championship Tennis finals.

WATSON REACTS TO BIRDIE PUTT

Ron Lyle: A Thinker

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Ron Lyle says he is going to think his way past Muhammad Ali's fists to heavyweight champion of the world. His day has come and never mind what it says under Lyle's picture on the poster promoting the fight Friday night.

It just says "worthy contender," which classifies the eighth-ranked Lyle as little more than a pretender to Ali's crown.

But Lyle says he isn't concerned. He is supremely confident his title assault will succeed through "training and thinking." He knows exactly where he's been and feels certain he sees the end of a long and rocky road and he's already tasting, in his mind, the fruits of victory.

RON LYLE

"It's gonna take a lot of things," Lyle explained. "Mainly thinking. I'm going to have to think about the fight as it goes on. I'll be telling myself 'Don't tire yourself out. Don't punch yourself out. Do everything right.' I'm going to enjoy the title and the victory. I've put all the ten years of sweat in. I'm going to take some time out and enjoy myself. It's been a long road for me."

Lyle's road includes a nine-year stop in Colorado jails and prisons for second degree murder because of a gang fight as a teenager.

Now 33, it's been 5½ years since he was paroled. He started boxing in prison, became a National AAU champion in 1970, turned pro in 1971 and has a 30-2-1 record.

"I've had a lot of time both inside (prison) and out to find out about myself," Lyle said. "A lot of lonely times in motel rooms and cells. I had a lot of questions and I came up with a lot of answers. Is it worth it? Is it worth giving up my precious freedom?"

"In my business, you have to isolate yourself, imprison yourself really. It tells you how bad you really want it. Who wants to take himself away from freedom of movement and freedom of choice? So I say this is it. I'm going to dedicate myself to this until I get what I want. The title. But it's paid off and it was worth it. That pretty well draws the picture. I can handle anything else that comes along, including Ali."

Can Kate Help Flyers?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Flyers, who last week were on the verge of sweeping their second straight playoff series, may rely on an old friend tonight when they play the New York Islanders in the seventh and deciding game of the Stanley Cup semifinal round.

On occasions when Kate Smith's rendition of "God Bless America" was played prior to a game instead of the National Anthem, the Flyers had a 42-31 record.

The Flyers are likely to go with Kate again tonight because they have seen a 3-0 advantage in their series with the Islanders dwindle to a 3-3 tie and must win the seventh game to go into the finals against the Buffalo Sabres.

The Islanders, again employing the tight defense the Flyers are famous for, won 2-1 in Long Island Sunday night, their third straight victory, to force the seventh-game showdown.

And the Islanders, who are seeking a second straight "miracle" after coming from three games back to beat Pittsburgh and gain the semifinals, aren't worried about Kate Smith.

The singer appeared in person last season when the Flyers upset the Boston Bruins here to capture the Stanley Cup.

"If they want to use Kate Smith as a crutch, that's fine with us," said Islander defenseman Gerry Hart. "They've still got to play the

Flyers center and team captain Bobby Clarke said they "don't plan to do anything differently for the seventh game, not after you've played 100 games this year one way."

But he admitted that if there is such a thing as the Islanders having momentum after their three straight victories, "I hope it doesn't mean anything or we're in trouble."

Flyers coach Fred Shero said, "you can't intimidate the Islanders. We can't outmuscle them like we did in the seventh game against the Rangers last year. The Islanders are too much like us."

Bill Barber, a Flyers winger who has been playing injured, insisted that "our backs have been to the wall before. It boils down to one game and we're going to win it."

But it was defenseman Joe Watson who expressed a thought that has to be on the minds of a lot of the Flyers.

Last Wednesday, The Flyers appeared to have the playoffs won in four straight when Reggie Leach scored as time ran out at the end of regulation and the red goal light went on as the buzzer sounded. But officials ruled the clock had expired before the goal and the Islanders went on to win in sudden death.

"Just think," Watson said in New York after Sunday's loss. "One lousy second and we win it."

FSC Move to Trim DEC Is Defeated

CRAGSMOOR
The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County, by a vote of 17 to 12, with four abstentions, has rejected a motion calling for the dissolution of the Department of Environmental Conservation's law enforcement agency and the fish and wildlife division.

The resolution had been presented at the March meeting of the Federation by Alex Rooney. It had been passed on April 9 by the Sullivan County Federation and read by its president, Cal Cray, at the beginning of the Ulster meeting.

Proponents of the measure charge that the DEC service program has deteriorated rapidly in the past few years. The resolution would retain at least $500,000 for the State Fish and Wildlife Management Act use and "sufficient sums be allowed for the continuation of the fish and wildlife disease labs, as well as for use in the printing, tabulating and distribution of licenses to counties."

The balance of the funds would be pro-rated and given back to the counties to be administered and used according to the majority feeling of the organized sportsmen in the counties. The resolution also charged that there is again at least talk of another license increase to further build up the bureaucracy.

In other business, the Federation re-elected Fred Faerber president. John Florsch of Saugerties was elected first vice president; Alex Rooney, Gardiner, second vice president; and Frank McCord, Gardiner, third vice president.

Other officers are: John Fraino, Lloyd, treasurer; Richard Clark, Highwoods, recording secretary; Ted Kilburn, Glasco, executive secretary. Kolburn was also named delegate to the New York State Conservation Council, with Florsch as the alternate. Jim Palkowicz of New Paltz and Art Smith of Cragmoor were named to the board of directors.

Fred Faerber reported that Charlie Fontana of the State Fish Hatchery at Port Jervis was unhappy with the lack of cooperation on the part of Ulster sportsmen in the fish stocking program. He urged all members to volunteer to assist in the stocking scheduled Wednesday, May 14, at 11:15 a.m. at Saugerties; May 15, at 10 a.m. at Greenfield Park; May 16, 12 noon at Phoenicia. The trout will be brooks and browns.

Fred Gentile, fish stocking chairman, reported that a total of 18,290 brook and brown trout had been stocked in Ulster County streams during the month of April, the largest total (9555 brook) in the Esopus Creek.

Other streams: Plattekill, 1235 brook; Sawkill, 1555 brook; Rochester, 823 brook; Mill Brook, 549 brook; Stony Kill, 473 brook; Verkeerderkill, 823 brown; Black Creek, 347 brown; Pancake Hollow, 435 brown; Beer Kill, 366 brook; Beer Kill (West Bridge), 549 brook and Sandburg Creek, 1600 brook.

Art Smith gave the Sportsmen's Show report. He reported the advance ticket sale for the May 16-17-18 event at New Paltz was moving slowly. He urged more activity on the part of the membership.

Open a Heritage Individual Retirement Account

Deduct as much as 15% of your earnings (up to $1500). Tax free. Until you retire.

Come on in. Talk with a Heritage retirement specialist. We'll be happy to set up an IRS approved plan best suited to your present income and future needs.

Remember, the sooner you act the more there'll be when you decide to retire.

With a Heritage Individual Retirement Account you not only save taxes on your contributions, but also on all interest earned until you retire. And at that time, naturally you'll be in a much lower tax bracket.

Your age when you open your retirement account determines how much you'll be able to receive annually after you retire.

This is the first time individuals not connected with corporate pension or retirement plans have had an opportunity to set aside sufficient funds for a comfortable future.

Remember, part of our motto is "Providing for the future." And the future is where we're all going to spend the rest of our lives. We'd like to help provide for yours. Now. Come on in to the office nearest you, or call for an IRA brochure.

MONTREAL (UPI) — A labor dispute again has placed in jeopardy the completion of facilities for the 1976 Montreal Olympics.

Officials of the city and the Montreal Olympic Organizing Committee (COJO) expressed fears Monday a prolonged strike at the main Olympic stadium site could put in doubt this city's ability to stage the games, scheduled to begin July 17, 1976.

"We were already working on an extremely tight schedule," said Lawrence Hanigan, chairman of Montreal's executive committee. "Certainly we can't afford another stoppage like the (two month strike) last winter."

"Every day is important to be sure facilities are ready on time, so I would think it is a very critical situation."

The dispute erupted last week when the Quebec government introduced legislation that four large construction unions be placed in trusteeship. The report sparked an outcry from the unions and a walkout of the nearly 2,000 workers at the Olympic site Thursday.

The men have not returned to the job and all work on the $380 million stadium complex, the velodrome and the Olympic village has been halted.

COJO executive vice president Simon St. Pierre said in a news conference that "the work stoppage, if it is just three days, is not too bad. (But) if it's longer, it could be pretty bad."

"But," he said, "we do not yet consider the situation to be critical to the point where you should be nervous. We'll settle our problems with the assumption that the games are going on in 1976."

St. Pierre conceded that the strike could increase the costs of the games—already facing a projected $200 million deficit — and could force construction crews to work 24 hours a day, seven days a week, in order to complete the project by its May, 1976, target date.

Prior to the walkout, work at the site was round-the-clock, six days a week.

St. Pierre and a delegation from COJO travel to Rome to deliver a progress report on Tuesday to representatives of Olympic national committees.

"It seems every time I go to Europe," St. Pierre said, "something happens."

Last fall, COJO officials traveled to Europe for a meeting with the International Olympic Committee in the midst of an ironworkers strike that shut down Olympic construction for two months. The strike was settled and work started again in January after the provincial government intervened and ended the dispute.

to move to another team." Oakland's Dan Connors has dropped out of the lawsuit.

Rozelle, the NFL and its club owners are the defendants.

Jones, Washington and West played out their options with Minnesota in 1971 and became free agents on May 1, 1972.

"There was a lot of dialogue with the Vikings and other teams" concerning a trade of the three players, who at one time bargained as a unit, Finks said in the deposition.

"I talked to many clubs about the three," said Finks. "Some I sought out and some sought me out about it."

Finks said Pittsburgh was interested in West, now a Detroit Lions defensive back, but the Steelers didn't want to give up wide receiver Ron Shanklin, who the Vikings wanted in return.

The general manager said wide receiver Washington expressed interest in being traded to Oakland because "he'd like to live in the bay area and his wife was from Oakland." However, no deal was made.

Finks said the Cleveland Browns were interested in Jones, a running back originally from Cleveland. Again, he said a trade was never worked out.

The three signed contracts with the Vikings in the summer of 1972.

Players attorney Edward Glennon asked Finks if he attempted any trades between May 1, 1972, and their signings.

"My effort after May 1 was always to sign them to Minnesota Vikings contracts," Finks replied, "because I felt that was where they wanted to and should play."

Also read into the record Monday were portions of a deposition taken from Dallas General Manager Tex Schramm, who will be a witness Tuesday.

WOODSTOCK

Chocolate Sundae CDX Can CD took third place in the Utility Obedience ring at the Springfield Kennel Club AKC Dog Show and Obedience Trial at West Springfield, Mass. on May 10, with a score of 190 1/2.

Only six of the 24 entries received passing scores. This gives Sundae his second of three legs towards a Utility Degree — the highest owned by Margaret Hickey of Woodstock, a member of the Ulster Dog Training Club.

Midnight Serenade V. Bross, a three-year-old black standard Doberman, successfully completed requirements for her Companion Dog degree at the Staten Island show, and was also high scoring Doberman.

To attain a "CD" degree, a dog must receive a score of more than 170 and more than 50 per cent of each exercise, under three different judges (known as tree legs). Upon notification from the American Kennel Club, the initials "C.D." will now be shown after the dog's name.

Serenade, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard McAvoy of Old Kings Highway, Saugerties. The McAvoy's are members of the Ulster Dog Training Club in Kingston and will now start open work. Mrs. Rosalie Krause of Woodstock handled Serenade in the obedience ring.

Special Nutritional Needs At Breakfast

- Nutritionists and health-care professionals have long considered breakfast to be the most important meal of the day. Many recommend that it supply about 25% of the day's nutrients and calories.
- After a 10-12 hour period of fasting, breakfast provides the body with energy and nutrients needed to meet the physical and mental demands of the morning's activities.

The following basic breakfast provides the nutrients and calories needed by most people and meets requirements suggested by the United States Department of Agriculture. The quantity of each food can be adjusted to meet the nutritional needs of any person.

- 4 oz. citrus juice or fruit
- 1 oz. (dry wt.) ready-to-eat or hot cereal with 4 oz. milk
- 2 slices enriched bread with spread
- 8 oz. milk

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION OF SUMMARY OF GRANT APPLICATION OF THE COUNTY OF ULSTER AS PRIME SPONSOR FOR FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE AND TRAINING
Pursuant to the requirements of the U.S. Department of Labor rules and regulation grant applications under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973, the County of Ulster has prepared the following summary of its application for publication at the be of its submission.
The County of Ulster is seeking financial assistance under Title I of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 in order to be able to provide employment and job opportunities for unemployed, underemployed and economically disadvantaged residents of the County of Ulster who have the greatest need for assistance in ultimately securing a job which pays a living wage.
The County of Ulster is defined as follows: bordered on the east by the Hudson River, the north by Greene County, on the west by Delaware and Sullivan Counties, and the south by Orange County.
Against a planning allocation by the U.S. Department of Labor of $595,852 for program year 1975, the County of Ulster has submitted its application for financial assistance which calls for:
128,484 for on-the-job training programs to serve at least 45 persons, to improve their skills in jobs in which skill shortages exist.
121,316 to employ an Employment Interviewer/Rural Outreach person to conduct office hours in the Towns of Wawarsing and New Paltz one day per week. In the own Saugerties two days per week and in the City of Kingston one day per week. A total of approximately 750 persons will be served and at least 50 direct job placements will be realized. $25,889 for adult work experience programs to provide wages and services to 40 persons who need to establish work habits and gain general skills in order to better equipped to compete for available jobs.
176,000 for youth work experience programs to provide wages and services to 82 disadvantaged youth, aged 16-22, to encourage them to remain in school or resume schooling if they have dropped out.
60,993 to provide a central Manpower Office staff to administer, monitor and evaluate all Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs.
It is anticipated that a total of 1,000 persons will receive some type of service from Title I program. This service will include intake, assessment and job referral. It is expected that at least 400 of those individuals served will be enrolled in Title I activities to include On-the-Job Training, Adult and Youth Work Experience programs and/or classroom training. Of those directly enrolled, it is expected that 111 will be placed in unsubsidized employment.
It is expected that the efforts of the Job Development Unit and the Employment Service Interviewer will result in the direct placement of 100 other persons. The remainder, or 500 persons, will receive services including vocational rehabilitation, testing, counseling or other Manpower related services.

Table I
Significant Segments (Planned Enrollment)

Vietnam Era and Disabled Veterans	60
Female Heads of Household	150
Welfare Recipients	125
Minority Members	20
Elder Workers	20
Offenders/Addicts	22
Youth (14-22)	160

(Does not add to 400 planned enrollees due to double counting)
All eligible Ulster County residents will be afforded the opportunity to avail themselves of the programs and activities provided under Title I.

Table II

Lightning Kindles Storage Barn Fire
RHINEBECK
Fire Monday night, apparently started by a bolt of lightning, gutted a barn used for storage by a Rhinebeck funeral home, causing an estimated $35,000 to $40,000 loss, according to the owner.
Rhinebeck firemen were called to the barn behind the Dapson Funeral Home, 65 West Market Street, at about 7:30 p.m. According to Fire Chief Fred Kilmer Jr., the building was fully involved when volunteers reached the scene.
Nearly 50 firemen battled the blaze for more than three hours. Two fire fighters were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation.
Owner Donald S. Dapson told the Freeman today that 37 caskets were destroyed in the fire, and a new hearse was virtually destroyed. He estimated his loss at between $35,000 and $40,000.

Schools Said Safe
KINGSTON
Fire Chief William J. Schreiber, responding to allegations raised during the recent school board elections, stated today "that to the best of the Department's knowledge, none of the school buildings within the city at the present time are in hazardous condition as far as fire safety is concerned."
Some proponents of a new high school had raised the question of fire safety in the old high school on Broadway, which is about 50 percent overcrowded. Schreiber said that all school buildings in the city are inspected at least once annually by the fire prevention officer. "Any hazards that are noted during these inspections are reported both to the fire department and the officials of the school in question and are usually corrected almost immediately," Schreiber said. The high school was inspected Sept. 30, 1974.

Free 7 Hostages In Montreal Strike
MONTREAL (UPI) — Clubswinging police stormed an aircraft plant today and freed seven persons held hostage by striking workers.
About 50 strikers armed with chains, lead pipes and wooden sticks had seized the hostages and barricaded themselves in the plant Monday night. Officials of the United Auto Workers said the strikers threatened "to take any measures" to force settlement of their 17-month strike.
The hostages—six employees of the United Aircraft plant and a newsman—were unharmed, a Quebec police spokesman said. At least 35 persons were arrested and five policemen, were injured.
About 150 police riot squad members stormed the aircraft plant, just outside Montreal in the city of Longueuil on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River. The strikers had broken through a fence and entered the plant while police were trying to disperse hundreds of other demonstrators outside with tear gas.
Before the riot squad arrived, several hundred demonstrators chased city police from their cars, which were overturned and set afire.
The workers marched on the strikebound plant after a rally called by the Quebec Federation of Labor to protest government plans to reform the province's construction industry by placing four unions under trusteeship. About 5,000 workers are on strike at 25 major construction sites, including the 1976 Summer Olympics site.
Elsewhere in Quebec, St. Lawrence River ports slowly returned to normal today as 2,700 dockworkers bowed to a court injunction ordering an end to their six-week-old strike.

Rescue Attempt Underway
GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Drilling operations to release deadly gas keeping rescuers from workmen trapped in a sewer tunnel under the Fox River here began today. Officials were not optimistic.
Parts of two bodies were found Monday before rescuers were driven back by heavy concentrations of gas, officials said. The fate of two other workers caught in the shaft by an explosion blamed on sewer gas was not known.
The four men trapped in the tunnel were identified as Roger Uhlig, 32, Cedarburg; Darold J. Badora, 35, Greenfield; Wilfred DeGrave, 47, New Franken; and Charles Dunkerson, 39, Racine.
Officials could not immediately identify the two victims.
Three rescue attempts failed Monday.

Weapons Were Hidden At BLA Sentencing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three Black Liberation Army members sentenced to 25 years to life in prison Monday were found to have a small arsenal concealed in their effects after the sentencing in Supreme Court, officials said.

City Correction Department officials said manila envelopes of legal papers carried by Herman Bell, 27, Anthony Bottom, 23, and Albert Washington, 32, contained five hollowed-out flare pencils containing black powder; three knives; two lockpicks and a tension bar for picking locks and a length of rope.

The three had no weapons when searched before entering the courtroom, a correction spokesman said. Courthouse guards did not know where the arms came from.

"I must say I was pretty damned surprised when we discovered their cache of weapons," said Corrections Department Captain James Gorman.

District Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau will begin an investigation Tuesday to determine how the weapons got into the envelopes.

The three were convicted of the ambush slayings of Police Officers Joseph Piagentini and Waverly Jones on May 17, 1971, in Harlem. The jury deliberated eight hours before returning its verdict.

They could be eligible for parole after serving a minimum 25 years in prison.

After listening to the defendants criticizing the quality of American life for minority groups, trial Justice Edward Greenfield commented: "The court could only wish the defendants could spend the 25

Schuler Denies Movers

ALBANY Citing his recent denial of a rate hike for a group of downstate moving companies, including a 6.2 percent increase request in Ulster County, State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler has warned the household moving industry that it must fully justify any rate increases sought.

He said that fragmentary information from only four of 402 moving firms operating in New York City, Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties did not constitute adequate justification for the proposals calling for from 4.9 to 9.2 percent rate increases.

Schuler said that increases in union wage levels do not automatically entitle a carrier to a general rate increase. "Inflation and recession have already taken their toll on New York's citizens," he commented. "I will not permit anyone under my authority to add unnecessarily to that burden."

Congress Moving to Authorize Resettlement Money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Responding to urgent administration appeals, Congress is moving speedily to authorize up to $405 million for resettling more than 100,000 South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees throughout the United States.

The seizure of the American merchant ship Mayaguez by a Cambodian naval vessel did not divert congressional deliberations. However, some sources predicted that this action was likely to stiffen existing congressional resistance to providing funds for war victims still in Cambodia or South Vietnam.

The House Appropriation

Committee met early today to consider a subcommittee recommendation to appropriate $405 million for resettlement of refugees through the next 14 months. The full committee was expected to accept the proposal, which falls short of the $507 million requested by the Ford administration.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee voted 13-0 Monday to recommend a $405 million authorization and to tap funds appropriated for military aid to the fallen Saigon government but never expended.

Votes on authorizing and appropriating legislation were considered likely this week.

Now that the issue of emergency military assistance has been eliminated by the fall of the non-Communist governments in Saigon and Phnom Penh, Congress appears eager to provide humanitarian and resettlement help for evacuees who have reached U.S. territory.

L. Dean Brown, chairman of the administration's refugee task force, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday that the need for resettlement money is urgent because available funds are running desperately low.

"Guam and Wake are full, and we have ships circling the islands."

"Then we have the Singapore problem. There are 6,000 to 7,000 refugees in the harbor, and that government has said they must leave. We don't know what we're going to do with them," Brown said.

Representatives of American voluntary agencies, who have already placed more than 8,000 refugees in 48 states, also urged speed in providing funds.

"I've only got three telephones and no money," pleaded John McCarthy of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

David W. Stickney of the American Friends Service Committee urged the Foreign Relations Committee and Congress to remember also the needs of millions of war victims in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

"Our war actions and our military support to the wars in Indochina are directly responsible for enormous amounts of human, social, and environmental damage in Indochina, amounting to the proportion of a great human catastrophe."

Communists Continue Laos Purge

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The Communist Pathet Lao consolidated its control of the Laotian coalition government today with a purge of more loyalist generals and the grounding of the rightist-controlled air force except on orders of the Communist defense minister.

Brig. Gen. Bouathong Phothithongsa, the air force commander, issued a communique declaring his service's loyalty to the coalition government. Bouathong said all aircraft had been grounded unless they received direct orders from acting Defense Minister Kham Ouane Bouppha, a member of the Pathet Lao.

Ouane Bouppha issued a communique Monday forbidding movement of non-Communist troops. "All officers and men should be prepared to follow my orders," the communique said.

In addition to removing a threat of air attack against Pathet Lao forces, the grounding of the air force could allow the Communists to starve out loyalist enclaves behind cease-fire lines which are dependent on aerial resupply.

Lt. Gen. Boutone Makhthopharak, the army commander, announced he had replaced two more rightist commanders, one of whom had served only 48 hours as commander of the Vientiane military region.

The events of the past week, including the resignations of four rightist cabinet ministers, have extended Pathet Lao influence over virtually all the government.

Communists in Laos, a landlocked kingdom bordered by China, North and South Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand and Burma, took advantage of the momentum arising from the fall of Saigon and Phnom Penh and rampant inflation to extend their control over the country.

Most diplomatic observers believe the government will adopt increasingly Communist policies now that the leading rightists have left the government.

The government consists of 12 Pathet Lao members and 12 non-Communists, including rightists, neutralists and moderates.

Israelis Cross Border Again

By UPI

Israeli troops crossed the border into southern Lebanon today for the second day in a row, raiding a frontier village and taking three Arabs captive.

The military command in Tel Aviv said troops seized the Arabs in the village of Aitaron, one mile from the border, and returned to Israel. There were no reported casualties.

A command spokesman said the captives were suspected of collaborating with Palestinian guerrilla groups operating in southern Lebanon.

"There were no exchanges of fire," a military source said. He said the raid took place soon after midnight.

Israeli infantry raided the same area in Lebanon Monday, searching three border villages and taking five Arab captives. It was the first Israeli strike across the Lebanese border in four months.

Military sources in Tel Aviv said the Arabs, including a doctor, would be tried by a military court if found to be involved in guerrilla attacks against Israel.

A military spokesman in Beirut said an Israeli patrol of about 100 men blew up a restaurant and a first aid station on Lebanese territory during Monday's raids.

The spokesman said the Israelis blew up a restaurant owned by a Lebanese Communist party member. He said the owner was among the Arabs taken captive.

Israeli sources denied any damage to buildings in the sweep through the Lebanese villages of Bint Jbeil, Aita Ech Chaab and Yarin, reputed to be jumping off points for guerrilla attacks against Israel.

A military spokesman in Beirut said an Israeli patrol boat also entered Lebanese waters Monday but the vessel was driven off by shore fire.

The Israeli raids followed a weekend of suspected guerrilla bombings in Jerusalem and the occupied West Bank region. There were no injuries in the blasts.

In diplomatic activities, an Arab guerrilla leader hinted the Palestinian Liberation Organization would be willing to stay out of the Middle East peace talks in Geneva.

Chafic Hout, head of the PLO office in Beirut, told the English-language newspaper Daily Star in the Lebanese capital, "The Geneva conference could take place without a Palestinian delegation."

Cong Government Claims New Title

By United Press International

The new Communist regime in Saigon has claimed title to the South Vietnamese embassy in Washington and designated Algeria to take over the premises.

Radio Hanoi said today the Viet Cong government made the claim May 10 in a diplomatic note sent to the State Department.

The radio, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, said the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government was the only legal representative of South Vietnam.

Since the Communist capture of Saigon April 30, Officials of the fallen government have continued to run the South Vietnamese embassy in Washington despite the Communist victory in Saigon April 30.

"All property of these offices, its real estates, moveable estates, dossiers and files now come under the management of the PRG," the note said.

The note said the PRG Algeria "to act on its behalf in taking over and protecting the property, dossiers, files and bank accounts of the former Saigon administration in the U.S."

In another broadcast, also monitored in Tokyo, Radio Hanoi said today "thousands" of South Vietnamese who tried to flee the country during the Communist takeover have been picked up and returned.

The radio said many of the returned refugees were persons who had fled to the offshore islands of Con Son in the South China Sea and Phu Quoc in the Gulf of Siam.

Hanoi Radio said two shiploads had been taken to the central coastal city of Nha Trang for resettlement and two other shiploads to the Mekong Delta area.

The broadcast repeated North Vietnamese charges that the United States had "forced" the refugees to leave.

In other developments, Paul Vogle of UPI's Saigon bureau said Monday the PRG, and not the military or North Vietnamese, appears to be in charge of the new South Vietnamese government.

He said the PRG began making official announcements two days ago over the government-run Radio Liberation in Saigon.

Up until then, all government announcements were signed by a "Citizens Committee" or the "Military Management Committee" in Saigon.

Radio Saigon said Monday an editorial in the capital's only newspaper, Liberation Daily, indicated pockets of resistance to the new regime in Saigon.

The broadcast, monitored in Bangkok, said the "reactionary remnants" would be "severely punished" — a Viet Cong euphemism for the death penalty.
